SKINNY KIBBLES

Around And About Town

With C. F. SKIRVIN

You will have a broader understanding of Orange county's participation in the Christmas seals campaign if you read the November issue of Life. Pictorially informative Life shows how the tubercular menace thirty years ago claimed one person out of every sixty. Fighting tuberculosis today has become a big business. I am sure if you read the account of tuberculosis which degenerates the tissues, progress made to stay its evil hand, and financial defense to continue the fight, you will increase your investment in Christmas seals.

Won't be long now before the season of "Jingle Bells," "Silent Night," and other Christmas carols. So you might as well adjust yourself to the holiday season, and like it. Seasonal decorations will soon intensify the "Santa Claus" spirit. It's a great season of gift-giving, but don't let the commercial crowd out the spiritual force of the occasion. Santa Ana will soon accentuate the event with appropriate decorations. The stores are already offering their gift selections for your consideration and approval. From what I have already seen there will be no need for me to go elsewhere to do my Christmas shopping.

Sometimes I am almost persuaded that business is as bad as we make it. Sometimes I wonder if we do not talk ourselves into a depression. And take it from me, many of those who see through a glass darkly are the very ones you will find spending money for pleasure and little for profit. They give little heed to conversation when selfish indulgence is involved. I've been with fellows who spent their money like a wild-eyed sailor and next met 'em and they had a face longer than the city hall. They were so full of depression it oozed out of their pores like perspiration on a hot day.

Friend returning from Riverside Friday night says fog so thick he cut out a few chunks and sent them to London for a comparative test. If it had not been for effective fog lights the trip would have been impossible. To add to the discomfort, two passengers were constantly giving advice. What a big help that was.

Well, I'm not the only one who takes life too seriously, or too much of it. My sparring partner, Paul Wright, whose desk connects up with mine, and sometimes I am convinced does a little "enoughing," is taking the rest cure for a week. Not to overcome Thanksgiving gormandizing, but to eradicate from his system a colony of flu germs which proceeded on the theory of the squatter. Paul is now trying to dispossess the trespassers.

And then Brick Gaines comes to my desk to tell me he is afraid he is falling for the flu. I gave him a prescription. If he takes it he's liable to fall for most anything.

I'm beginning to believe there is something to this "not a Chinaman's chance" wisecrack. The way the Japs are pushing them about indicates it's an army with plenty of momentum, but not enough resistance.

Ho, hum, before it is too late guess I'll join the Boy Scouts if I don't have to go fishing. The Izaak Walton tell me that fishing is good for meditation. Solitude improves your mental perspective. But what's that got to do with fishing?

It's all right to inquire if I was sick over Thanksgiving day, but it can be done without laughing while you are getting the information. Dale Schmidt said he was sorry, but his grin was mighty poor supporting evidence.

And it won't be long now before you will be scanning with a scowl your gas and light bills, but before you go to the office to yell like an Indian take into account that darkness comes much earlier, and the weather is getting much cooler. If you do you won't be so hot when you call at the utility offices.

Try this one on your memorandum pad. I chanced to see it in a midwest paper. It is not my problem, but it is intriguing. My difficulty was to find any change in my pocket to prove the challenge: "Multiply your age by two and add five to the result. Then multiply it by 50. Add the change in your pocket, if less than a dollar." (Continued on Page 2, Col. 1)

STATE ALLOWS INCREASE ON CAL. GOODS

Railroads Win Plea For Higher Charges

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—The state railroad commission granted increases of seven to ten per cent today on basic commodities handled by 52 California railroads.

The commission granted a flat tariff increase on intra-state operations. The lines received equal benefits between 1932 and 1936 in the form of surcharges. Increases may go into effect on five days notice.

Similar increases on inter-state increases already have been allowed by the inter-state commerce commission.

The railroads stated they were not earning a fair return, were not making operating expenses and were confronted with a substantial increase in expense due to higher wages, increased costs of materials and taxes.

Even the increase granted will not yield a fair return on capital investments, the railroads contended.

An application for a flat increase of 15 per cent on practically all commodities is still pending before the interstate commerce commission and the railroad commission.

The railroad commission today, in announcing the action, pointed out that extensive hearings had been held before the ICC on the interstate phases of the application. The railroad commission therefore deemed further hearings unnecessary.

TAX DEADLINE DRAWS NEAR

Write tax checks at home, if possible, or have the exact change ready with your tax bill. Get there early.

County Tax Collector J. C. Lamb submitted this as a "speed up traffic" plan today, as the Dec. 5 delinquency deadline approached and his office still hummed with the rustle and clink of incoming tax money.

"We have courteous and efficient clerks to give the best of service," said Lamb, "but their number is limited on account of lack of room. Early visitors, therefore, have the advantage. Bring your tax bill along if you have it, and, if not, an old bill or other document for the identification of your property."

His office, Lamb said, will be open all day—from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m.—Saturday, last day for paying first tax installments without delinquency penalty.

TAX REPEAL PETITIONS OUT

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Petitions looking toward repeal of specified sales, use and private car taxes were in the hands of the registrar of voters here today.

Harry H. Ferrell, Southern California executive secretary of the Tax Relief Association of California, said other petitions to bring the total signatures to 190,000 required to place the initiative measure on the ballot next November would be filed in other counties.

Ferrell said the proposed constitutional amendment would relieve taxation on products and industry and increase it on community-created values, especially land values.

Count Joins 'Just-A-Husband' Club

He may be a count in Denmark, but he's just a husband here!

Although Ruth Bryan Owen is the wife of Kammerjunker Kapitjan Boerge Rohde and therefore a countess, she was introduced simply as Ruth Bryan Owen last night when she appeared in the Ebell clubhouse auditorium to address a capacity audience on the Scandinavian Cooperative movement.

The daughter of the "Great Commoner" more than lived up to the Bryan part of her name with her silver tongue.

"Denmark stands as a small, unprotected kingdom in the midst of heavily armed Europe, hoping that those nations will follow her lead in dispensing with the cost of an army and navy," Mrs. Owen declared.

"Luxuries are highly taxed in Denmark, but that money is used by the government to increase comforts for all the people, rather than to build guns and arm men."

MARKET HITS UP GRADE

NEW YORK. (AP)—Slow but persistent buying put the stock market back on the upgrade today and recoveries running to 3 points were posted for wide assortment of leaders. A few were up 8 or 10.

While a little profit selling crept into the list in later proceedings, most gainers held around top marks near the fourth hour.

Prominent on the upside were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Chrysler, John-Manville, U. S. Gypsum, U. S. Rubber, J. I. Case, American Telephone, Anaconda, Du Pont, Westinghouse, General Electric, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Eastman Kodak, Douglas Aircraft and Western Union.

Extra dividends for Texas Corp. and National Distillers gave these shares a lift. American Woolen preferred weakened on announcement no dividend would be paid now.

Investment forces seemed to find satisfaction in the President's message calling for a drastic cut in the federal outlay for aiding states in highway construction and his assertion that "definite steps" are necessary to balance the budget.

MONTAGUE MAY DROP OLD NAME

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—John Montague, who was disclosed publicly as La Verne Matthew Moore when he was arrested on a robbery charge several months ago, wants to drop the name Moore permanently.

The famed golfer and friend of movie notables, who won acquittal on the New York state robbery charge, petitioned for the change yesterday, setting forth that the name John Montague had become well known in the world of business and sports, and had acquired a commercial and sentimental value. Moore said he was born in Syracuse, N. Y., in 1904.

Hearing was set for next Jan. 6.

London Parley Plans Peace Move

LONDON. (AP)—Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain and French Foreign Minister Yvon Delbos issued declarations today indicating they planned broad consultations with other powers looking toward a general settlement of world unrest.

Chamberlain's statement said Germany's colonial demands could not be considered "in isolation."

It declared France and Britain were ready to cooperate with other powers in protecting both their rights and treaty obligations in the Far East.

DALE OUSTED AS HEAD OF ASSEMBLY

Old Line Bourbon Leader Now In Saddle

Revolt flared in the county's Democratic ranks last night, unseating Chester Dale as chairman of the Democratic Assembly and replacing him with Horace Head, old-line Bourbon leader.

Several hundred Democrats wrangled over operation of the assembly in last night's meeting at Fullerton, bringing the controversy to a head with a by-law amendment which forced an immediate election of officers.

FIREWORKS FLARE
Fireworks flared when the assembly's resolutions committee sought to unseat Mrs. M. E. Geeting as secretary of the group, charging affairs of the organization were not being handled to best advantage. The resolution was voted down.

The anti-Geeting group then presented a motion to amend the by-laws, providing for annual election of officers with the first election immediately.

HEAD-DALE BATTLE
That motion carried, and the test of strength came when Head and Dale were both nominated for the post of chairman.

Head, who captained last year's Democratic campaign here, was victorious; and Mrs. Geeting was reelected secretary.

Other officers named by the assembly included Claude Pullen of Corona del Mar, first vice chairman; Lloyd Verry of Fullerton, second vice chairman; and Harry Bell, reelected as treasurer.

By-laws of the group will undergo a shakeup, following appointment of a committee to work on revision of the organization's laws.

Pelerson Hall of Los Angeles, Democratic gubernatorial candidate for next year, addressed the meeting on work of the Roosevelt administration, charging attacks on it were "unfair."

POLICE RUSE HALTS SUICIDE

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—While they held Mrs. Elga Vasquez, 26, in conversation on a telephone, police rushed to her apartment today in time to prevent death from gas fumes.

"I've just turned on the gas," she telephoned officer Walter Teubert.

He held her in conversation until Detective Lieutenant George Hill and his squad broke into the apartment.

"Okay, Walter," spoke Hill over the telephone a few minutes later. "We got here just in time."

CIO Protest On Judge Fails

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Superior Judge Emmet Wilson will continue to handle labor injunction cases, despite the voiced protests of officials of the CIO, American Civil Liberties union and of the Municipal League.

A. L. Wirin, lawyer for the CIO industrial union council, told presiding Judge Fletcher Bowron at a conference attended by Judge Wilson they did not question his honesty, "but we feel his general philosophy of life forbids him from seeing our point of view."

Wirin said when an order restraining picketing was granted it often amounted to a final decision, since by the time a case reached trial months later the labor dispute usually was over.

Judge Bowron told the protesters, after declining their request, his term as presiding officer of the superior court would expire this year and the matter of assigning judges to the various departments would then be in the hands of a new presiding judge.

LINK GOV. 'QUEEN HELEN'

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Governor Frank Merriam may be invited to appear before the state assembly interim committee on civil service and personnel to give his views regarding the dismissal of 40 employees of the state board of equalization two years ago. Sam Yorty, chairman of the committee, said today.

The committee, after hearing the governor's name linked with that of Mrs. Helen M. Warner, once known as "the queen of Los Angeles politics," adjourned until some time in January.

Ray Edgar, member of the equalization board, told the committee that Governor Merriam gave him a list of names and recommended dismissal of those named because of "unsatisfactory service." Edgar said he carried out the governor's recommendation, adding, however, that never since has the governor given him additional names.

It was in the testimony of Jesse Crain, former associate of Mrs. Warner, that the governor's name was linked with the erstwhile "political queen."

Crain verified his testimony before the Donahoe investigating committee June 24, 1935, in which he said that on Dec. 15, 1935, he handed to the governor a "large, fat envelope" in a Los Angeles hotel.

Crain declared he was "informed" the envelope contained a list of 125 employees "whose probation period expired in February," and the letter was given him by Mrs. Warner to deliver to the governor.

'Fingerprint Bosses First,' Say Extras

HOLLYWOOD. (AP)—The Screen Actors' guild will join in any move for general fingerprinting in Hollywood if the film producers will start the ball rolling by supplying their own prints, Aubrey Blair, Guild business manager, said today.

"Any such move, however, he declared, must include everyone. "Guild officers will not permit extras or any other group to be singled out," Blair said.

A suggestion that film extra players be fingerprinted arose in connection with a recent Hollywood slaying for which an extra is being sought.

Prince Improving After Auto Crash

AMSTERDAM. (AP)—The condition of Prince Bernhard, consort of Crown Princess Juliana, was described as "improving" today at the Burger hospital where he was taken for treatment of injuries suffered in an automobile accident yesterday.

POET VISITS SANTA ANA

Seumas MacManus Here Resting With Friends

The radio is bringing about a civilization of mute listeners in the opinion of Seumas MacManus, author of 26 books on Irish folklore which have made for him a prominent place in the literary world, particularly in America.

MacManus is spending a few weeks in Santa Ana as the patient of Dr. Gunning Butler in this community.

Story telling thrives at Donegal, Ireland, the setting of most of MacManus' works, the author said.

"Here, during the evenings, the people of this rocky, mountainous section, young and old, gather around large open hearths for story telling. Stories that have been told for 2000 years are recounted and everyone contributes."

He pointed out that in the industrial sections of England the average factory worker has a vocabulary of only 600 words; not so of Donegal where the people there talk Gaelic and have thousands of words at their command.

"There are two reasons for this richness in their vocabularies," MacManus said. "The Gaelic language itself is filled with words and then the mighty story telling brings out the use of words in every sentence."

DEAD UNBURIED IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK. (AP)—Seventeen bodies awaited burial today as Mayor Fiorello H. LaGuardia threatened to declare an emergency in a four-day strike of 350 grave diggers and other employees of Greenwood cemetery in Brooklyn.

The unburied dead were placed in temporary reserve vaults as relatives and friends pressed for settlement of the strike, called Saturday to avert seasonal layoffs of the cemetery's staff.

Mayor LaGuardia said that unless the strike were arbitrated immediately he would provide city employees to dig the graves. A section of the city sanitary code requires that all bodies be interred within four days after death.

Successor Named For Slayer's Job

BURBANK. (AP)—Dudley M. Steele assumed his new duties today as president and general manager of the Union Air terminal here, succeeding Paul Wright, who faces trial for murder in the double slaying of his wife and John B. Kimmel, a close friend.

Steele resigned as coast manager of exploitation for an automobile manufacturing concern to take the position. He formerly served as aviation director for an oil company.

Josephine Baker Gets French Hubby

PARIS. (AP)—Josephine Baker, American negro night club dancer and singer, and Jean Lion, a French wholesale broker, were married today in a civil ceremony at the village of Crevecoeur-Le-Grand, near Paris.

Give Own Goods Preference In Customs, Report

WASHINGTON. (AP)—The state department asked its consular representatives in China today for information on a report customs rates at Tientsin, north China port, had been reduced on a wide range of Japanese products. If the report proves correct, informed sources said, it will mean Japan already has started closing the "open door" of commercial equality in China for all foreign nations.

Fears here for the future of China's "open door" already has prompted the United States government to warn Japan not to attempt changes in the Chinese maritime customs systems before consulting Washington.

The Japanese military now exercises control over most of north China and Shanghai, China's wealthiest seaport.

Secretary Hull revealed at his press conference this government was making inquiries concerning the Tientsin report although he withheld any comment.

U. S. LAUNCH SEIZED, FLAG HAULED DOWN

SHANGHAI. (AP)—American Consul General Clarence E. Gauss protested to the Japanese consulate today after a Japanese naval crew seized an American-owned steam launch and lowered the craft's American flag.

The launch, owned by the China Foreign Steamship company, an American firm and agent of the Roosevelt line, was seized as it lay along the French bank.

It was understood Italian authorities also protested against seizure of two vessels flying the Italian flag.

William Hunt, steamship company head, protested strongly to Consul Gauss against seizure of the launch. He declared the Japanese "rough-housed" the Chinese crew aboard the launch and then "deliberately pulled down the flag and tossed it in the river."

Earlier the French ambassador said today that Japanese air bombs had destroyed a Catholic church in Shanghai.

DE MILLE URGED FOR SENATE

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—A suggestion by a Republican party leader that Cecil B. De Mille be "drafted" for the nomination for United States senator was met without comment today by the veteran film director and producer.

Leo E. Anderson, chairman of the Los Angeles county Republican central committee and head of the California Republican assembly "fact-finding" committee that will report on candidates at Santa Cruz Dec. 11 and 12, was the party leader making the suggestion.

De Mille has long been active in the affairs of the Republican party. The position to which Anderson recommended the film executive be drafted as a nominee is now held by William Gibbs McAdoo.

De Mille is the second Hollywood figure to be mentioned for public office. Democratic leaders recently put forth actor Leo Carrillo as a possible nominee for the governorship. The actor, a native son, said he hoped to make the political race "at some future time," saying he would be a candidate for the nomination next year.

CHISELING CHARGED

Five counts of relief "chiseling" today faced Ulysses F. Reynolds, 70-year-old La Habra carpenter, who was accused by state welfare inspectors of receiving more than $1250 in extra unreported income while he was accepting state old age pension money.

Arrested in La Habra last night, Reynolds was arraigned in Santa Ana justice court and admitted to $200 bail. He will have a preliminary hearing at 9 a. m. Thursday. The complaint alleges Reynolds received property and income amounting to $1257.23 in excess of that allowed under old age security and that he failed to report the extra revenue to the county board of supervisors.

Beverly Roberts May Wed Director

HOLLYWOOD. (AP)—Wedding bells may ring in January for Beverly Roberts, screen actress, and William Keighley, who directed her in her first picture, she said today.

"I don't want to say anything definite right now, but Mr. Keighley is planning a vacation in Europe for January and we may be married before then."

FDR MESSAGE ASKS REDUCTION OF U. S. AID HIGHWAY FUND

BALANCING OF BUDGET SOUGHT

Senators Revolt Against Proposal

WASHINGTON, (AP)—President Roosevelt asked congress today to reduce greatly the government's immediate financial outlay for aiding states in highway construction.

Asserting that "definite steps" are necessary to balance the budget, Mr. Roosevelt proposed in a special message:

1. Cancellation of a $214,000,000 apportionment authorized for distribution among the states during the 1939 fiscal year.
2. Spreading over the next two fiscal years a $200,000,000 appropriation authorized for the present (1938) fiscal year.
3. A limit of $125,000,000 annually on all public roads authorizations for and after the 1940 fiscal year (compared to a total of $238,000,000 each for 1938 and 1939).
4. Revision of the federal-aid highway law to eliminate a requirement that the federal government apportion to the various states the annual amount authorized for appropriation.

EXPENDITURES CITED

Mr. Roosevelt pointed out that since enactment of the first federal aid highway act in 1916 more than $3,100,000,000 of regular and emergency appropriations have gone from the federal treasury into road building.

He contrasted the $298,000,000 annual average for the last five years with an average of less than $100,000,000 in each of the five years preceding the depression.

RECOMMENDATION OPPOSED

Western senators led an incipient revolt against Mr. Roosevelt's curtailment recommendations even before the message reached the capitol.

Senator Hayden (D., Ariz.), co-author of the act under which congress has appropriated more than $200,000,000 to be spent on road building during the year beginning July 1, 1938, arranged to speak in the senate immediately after presentation of the message.

lar. Subtract the number of days in the year, 365. Then add 115 for good measure. The two left hand figures will show your age, and the two right hand figures the change in your pocket."

It wasn't the night before Christmas, but three days after Thanksgiving, and most husbands were thankful for the last of the turkey. That appetizing expectancy had changed to one of complete satisfaction. We wait all year to get one and three days afterward glad it's gone. What a hard race to please.

And now let us return to that irrepressible subject: Balance the budget.

Out for Lark Stopped by Police

PARIS, (AP)—The prospect of lark pie will even make Frenchmen fight police reserves.

A swarm of larks, flying south for the winter, passed over the International Exposition. Dazzled by the rays from the lighthouse set up in the exposition, the birds fell into the grounds.

Hundreds of visitors rushed to grab the birds and a free-for-all fight developed. Police reserves were called but the lark hunters turned on them.

By the time the police had emerged victorious, most of the larks had made their getaway.

400-Degree Circle Adopted by Dazis

BERLIN, (AP)—The 360 degree circle, originated by the Babylonians, is being gradually abandoned in the German land survey department, by order of Dr. Wilhelm Frick, minister of interior.

Instead, a metric system of 400 degrees has been adopted, divided into tens, hundreds, thousands, etc. In Germany, therefore, a right angle will have 100 degrees instead of 90. Time has been allowed for surveyors to adapt themselves to the new rule; but by April 1, 1945, all their instruments are expected to bear the new subdivisions.

Life Belt Made Self-Inflating

HEDENBERG, Sweden. (American Wire)—A self-inflating life belt is the novel invention of Karl V. Gosta of this city. It is made of rubber tubing containing a capsule with chemicals. When the capsule is broken, carbon dioxide gas is asked to blow up the belt.

Signing the Anti-Red Pact

Here is the signing of the pact in Rome when Italy joined Germany and Japan in an alliance against communism. Special Envoy Joachim von Ribbentrop affixes his signature on behalf of Germany. Behind him is Foreign Minister Galeazzo Ciano, who signed for Italy, while Ambassador Massaki Hotta waits to sign for Japan.

FAMED IRISH POET HERE

lumbo (a famous scholar of Ireland) predicted some day a black pig belching smoke and cinders would enter Donegal," MacManus continued. "His prophecy has come true, for today a railroad line has been built into the region, but as yet the radio hasn't come in to interfere with the story telling at Donegal."

The first story which was published in America from the pen of MacManus was in 1899 by Harpers. The story was written on smoked stained paper which the sophisticated editor of Harpers commented upon with favor. That first story, published in 1899, shortly after MacManus' first trip to America, brought him $100 which somewhat dazzled the young poet and author who had never before received more than $2 for any single bit of writing he had done in Ireland.

During the years 1914 to 1922 MacManus was a virtual outcast from England. The English government knew that he was one of the five men who originally organized the Sen Fein movement in Ireland.

MacManus written stories are better known in America perhaps than in Ireland, as during recent years all of them have been published.

Among the most popular of his books are "Bold Blades of Donegal," "Story of the Irish Race" (a History), "Donegal Fairy Tales," "Yourself and the Neighbors of Donegal," and "The Rocky Road to Dublin."

MacManus is a large man with heavy bushy eyebrows beneath which are large clear eyes. He was wearing a suit of heavy homespun this morning which was woven at Donegal.

L. A. Tycoon Fights Wife's Divorce Plea

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—Meeting his wife's charge of unfaithfulness with one that she associated with other men, Abraham G. Haglund, 45, machinery manufacturing executive, opposed her suit for divorce and division of $50,000 community property in court today.

Haglund heard a deposition by his sister-in-law, Mrs. Dorothy Lomax, named by Mrs. Haglund as co-respondent, read as evidence. In it she said:

"He told me he loved me and wanted me, that he would take care of me better than his husband, and about the money he had, and that he would take me to Europe with him."

The defendant charges Mrs. Haglund associated with Archie Copenhagen and that he was killed in an automobile accident last year while in her company.

Fisherman FDR Has 'Fair' Luck

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—President Roosevelt got out his old begrimmed fishing togs and tackle again today to troll for sailfish and barracuda from the yacht Potomac somewhere in the vicinity of the dry Tortugas islands, southwest of Key West.

He had fair luck on his first day out of Miami yesterday.

MALADY GRIPS BLOOD DONOR

OLYMPIA, Wash. (AP)—A strange malady, which he blames on the frequency with which he donated his blood to save the lives of others, is slowly paralyzing Roger Carr, 33-year-old former Detroit athlete.

He gave his blood in transfusions to save more than a score of other persons. Now he is looking for someone to save his own life. He offered himself today as a human guinea pig to any doctor who thinks there is a chance of halting the creeping paralysis.

Carr's legs, which won him many track medals, have grown heavy and slow. He has lost his sense of balance.

He spends his time weaving rugs. It keeps his hands from becoming useless and provides his only income.

Former U. C. Head To Marry Widow

BERKELEY, (AP)—A December wedding will unite Major General David P. Barrows, former president of the University of California and retired commander of the California National Guard, and Mrs. Eva Scheide White, Berkeley widow.

They filed notice yesterday of intention to wed. General Barrows gave his age as 64. Mrs. White said she was 50.

She is a Berkeley social worker. Her husband, who died in 1913 in Manila, was a former education work colleague of General Barrows in the Philippines.

Traffic to Skip L. A. Slide Area

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—City officials were considering various plans today for rerouting Riverside drive around the Elysian park slide area which, predicted Dr. John P. Buwalda, geologist, will continue to move and settle for at least 100 years.

Eventually, the geologist said, the entire hill will slide down, as did a million-ton portion of it last Friday night.

Former Santa Anan Dies in Chicago

Word was received today of the death of Mrs. Frederick J. Bippus at Chicago, Ill., who for five years was a resident of Santa Ana. Her husband died in November, 1935.

Mrs. Bippus leaves a step-daughter, Mrs. Adolph Erickson of 1041 West Sixth street, of Santa Ana. At present Mrs. Erickson is spending two months with her daughter, Mrs. C. Roberts in San Bernardino.

orphanage at Kashing and killed 86 Chinese children.

He also said 150 refugees, four French sisters and five Chinese sisters who were at the orphanage were missing.

The reports came as the Japanese continued their advance on Nanking. The Chinese defenders of the almost deserted capital were reported falling back to a line 40 to 60 miles east and south-east of the city, with Japanese columns in pursuit.

DUMP EXPLODES AS NANKING AWAITS ATTACK

NANKING, (AP)—Nanking, preparing to meet the advancing Japanese army, was given a grim display of fireworks today when an ammunition dump blew up about 20 miles to the east of the city.

The conflagration was visible throughout the Nanking area as detonation after detonation shook the ground and brought alarmed residents from their homes.

Meanwhile, the international committee continued to press the Japanese military command for a reply to its week-old request, for capital for civilians when the anticipated battle for Nanking starts.

The capital's Chinese authorities have agreed in principle to the safety plan and have given their assurances of police-protected financial and food supplies to the American, British, German and Danish members of the committee.

JAPS TO COMPLETE SHANGHAI SENSORSHIP

SHANGHAI, (AP)—Japanese authorities plan to complete their control of all communications in Shanghai within a few days, authorities sources said today.

They plan to install censors and auditors in the offices of the three foreign cable companies and to collect a portion of the revenues previously allocated to the Chinese government, these informants said.

The next move, it was reported, would be to take over control of telephone and motion picture facilities and to establish censorship of these.

BRITISH PLANE FIRED ON

HONGKONG, (AP)—British naval communiques said a British plane was fired on by an unidentified vessel today while engaged in maneuvers near Hongkong. The plane was not hit.

Naval authorities immediately began an investigation.

JAPS APPROVE WAR FUND

TOKYO, (AP)—The Japanese cabinet approved today a budget for the coming fiscal year calling for $359,890,000 in army and navy expenditures.

The proposed military expenditures were nearly half the total budget of $831,806,710, but represented a cut of $4,930,000 from the 1937 defense appropriation.

Proposals for financing the Chinese conflict were placed in a special account which was not announced.

Students Strike For 'Free Press'

CHESTER, Pa. (AP)—The cry of "freedom of the press" was raised by 250 Chester High school pupils who quit classes today, protesting the suspension of John Gilman, 18, student editor.

The strikers declared Gilman was suspended a week ago because his paper criticized the school board for not constructing a new building to relieve overcrowding.

Signs carried by pickets read: "Come Out on Strike," and "Free Speech—Free Press."

ported today a sharp drop in railway income for October, 1937, under October, 1936.

Class one railroads in October this year had a net operating income of $60,747,445, the association reported. The comparable income in October last year was $89,809,372.

For the first 10 months of this year the association said railway operating revenue of the class one roads was $530,770,017 compared to $524,292,106 for the like period last year. This year's 10-months income represented an annual rate of return of 2.38 per cent on the railroads' property investment, compared to a 2.36 per cent rate for the first 10 months of last year.

Gross operating revenues for the first ten months totaled $3,547,567,402 compared with $3,320,656,488 in the comparable 1936 period.

NEW CARS ORDERED

NEW YORK, (AP)—President Samuel T. Bledsoe, of the Atchafalaya, Topeka & Santa Fe railway, announced today directors had authorized purchase of stainless steel cars and Diesel locomotives to cost about $4,800,000 partly to be financed through an equipment trust issue.

Directors declared the regular semi-annual dividend of $2.50 a share on the preferred stock, payable Feb. 1 to stock of record Dec. 31.

200 LAID OFF

TOPEKA, (AP)—Two hundred employees in mechanical departments of the Santa Fe railroad shops have been notified they are to be "laid off" after today. Most of the employees are in the car department but all the other mechanical departments were affected.

POISON TAKER AWAITS FATE

PASADENA, (AP)—Until Saturday, Mrs. Lennie Morey will not know whether she is to live or die. The 46-year-old woman inventor, who holds 98 photographic patents she values at a million dollars, is suffering from poison and the crisis will not be passed until the end of the week, hospital physicians said.

Police are holding James Womack, 23, who was employed by Mrs. Morey in her laboratory. He denied he was involved in any plot to gain control of her inventions.

Death of Designer Called Suicide

NEW YORK, (AP)—Records of medical examiner office disclosed today Peggy Hoyt, world famous dress designer who died Oct. 26, was a suicide by poisoning. She was the wife of Aubrey L. Eads, her partner in business.

The report of Miss Hoyt's death was signed by Chief Medical Examiner Thomaas A. Gonzales. The medical examiner's office disclosed report had been delayed by poison tests.

No reason was given for her act.

HOME CHANGES REQUESTED

Two more workers at the juvenile home and quick action on a county coordinator were asked of supervisors today by the county probation committee.

Long hours and small pay at the home, the board was told in a letter signed by the committee, are resulting in dissatisfaction and a rapid turnover in employees. One man and one woman at salaries not exceeding $65 a month plus board and room were asked; and the board took the matter under advisement.

A long discussion followed presentation of the letter by T. B. Talbert, former supervisor and member of the committee. Talbert, Rolla R. Hays and Chairman Albert Stitt presented the committee's viewpoint.

More room is needed at the home, the committee remarked, also requested that when a chairman is appointed for the new coordinating council (a matter tabled when the board refused juvenile Judge H. G. Ames' recommendation for a $3000 yearly salary) that he be given an office separate from the probation department.

Exchange Elects Beebe President

Marshall Beebe of Anaheim was named president of the Orange County Insurance exchange at a meeting of the organization last night in Santa Ana, according to H. P. Harrison.

Other officers for the ensuing year are: Aubrey Lake of Fullerton, vice-president; W. J. Elliot of Anaheim, secretary and treasurer; and Clyde Mackey of Laguna Beach and Mac O. Robbins of Santa Ana, directors.

Principal speaker on the program was A. E. Walker of Los Angeles who spoke on the topic "Analyzing of Financial Statements of Casualty Insurance Companies."

Rubber Exports Cut 30 Per Cent

LONDON, (AP)—A drastic cut in crude rubber exports for the first quarter of 1938 was announced today by the international regulation committee, composed of representatives of virtually all rubber exporting countries.

The new quota, the announcement said, would be 70 per cent of basic allowances. For the last six months of this year the quota was 80 per cent. The basic allowances are standard production figures set up arbitrarily when the rubber cartel was formed in 1934.

The price of rubber for immediate delivery moved sharply higher after the announcement. Shares of rubber companies also were substantially up in the stock exchange.

Court Frees Girl On Salute Charge

SACRAMENTO, (AP)—Charlotte Gabriell, youthful schoolgirl who was expelled for refusal to salute the United States flag, won her case in the third court of appeals here today.

The appellate court upheld a judgment of the trial court that she could not be compelled to violate the injunctions of her religious sect, Jehovah's Witnesses, which forbids doing homage to other than God.

Twins Pick Well Equipped Family To Arrive In

BREA, (AP)—After all, with a maternity home right in the family, why not? Twin daughters were born this morning to Mr. and Mrs. Guy Cone and they were ushered into the world at Brea maternity home operated by their great-grandmother, Mrs. R. E. Closson, on South Pomona avenue. The youngsters weighed, respectively, three and three-quarters and four and one-half pounds.

GIANT 'SCOPE'S CRANE ARRIVES

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—Designed for handling the 200-inch mirror for the Palomar observatory telescope, a 60-ton crane was on its 65-mile journey by truck to Mt. Palomar today.

The crane, which arrived by rail from the East, was unloaded here because facilities for the transfer were unavailable at San Diego. It will be mounted on a runway in the 135 feet high dome of the observatory and used to move the 20-ton reflector when adjustments are needed after it is installed in 1939.

The big "eye" is being ground and polished at the California Institute of Technology optical shop in Pasadena.

Fourth of Income Taken for Rent

WASHINGTON, D. C. (American Wire)—About one-fourth of the family income goes for rent in most American cities, a report just issued by the commerce department's financial survey of urban housing revealed.

ANTI-SMUDGE LAW

An ordinance barring old tires as orchard heaters as well as clamping down on smoky "smudge pots" was before supervisors today.

A. J. Cruickshank, member of a Southern California committee to combat the smoke nuisance, presented the ordinance and was told the board would study it. The new law is similar to those in effect in Los Angeles, San Bernardino and Riverside counties.

LA SALLE!

Performance THAT REACHES THE TOP WITH ECONOMY THAT'S CLOSE TO THE BOTTOM

LaSalle V-8 performance is ever-new V-8 performance! Whether the need be power, acceleration, or sustained speed—LaSalle's 125-horsepower, Cadillac-built V-8 engine responds instantly, smoothly, quietly, brilliantly! Of course it's amazing that performance like this should spring from an engine as economical as LaSalle's engine. But the fact that its performance is so brilliant—and its economy so great—is a major reason why LaSalle was the favorite fine-car of nearly 35,000 people in 1937! If you want performance that reaches the top with economy that's close to the bottom—get the new LaSalle V-8... the world's most economical fine car!

COP BAITER, BAIL JUMPER UNDER ARREST IN HOLLYWOOD

SAN CLEMENTE 'ROLL' CASE FIGURE HELD

Warrant Charges Grand Theft From Tustin Woman

William A. Curtiss, Hollywood man who stirred up a hornet's nest a month ago when he wired Governor Miriam he had been "rolled" by two San Clemente policemen, was arrested in Los Angeles today.

But he faces more serious charges than the drunk driving count on which he "jumped bail" early this month.

GRAND THEFT CHARGE

He and a feminine companion, Louise Powelson, were arrested on a felony warrant charging grand theft of $700 from an elderly Tustin woman, and Curtiss also will face felony charges of issuing fictitious checks, in addition to the San Clemente drunk driving complaint.

While California highway patrolmen and San Clemente police were voicing indignation at the "shake-down" charges Curtiss voiced in telegrams to Governor Merriam and Dan Mulholland, San Clemente mayor, the district attorney's office was busy investigating his asserted activities in an oil lease scheme, they admitted today.

FORFEITED BAIL

Curtiss was released on the drunk driving charge on bail $1500 and he forfeited the $1500 bond and has been in custody since then when Deputy Sheriff G. F. McKelvey, Harold Boyce of the San Clemente police and Ernie Webb, Santa Ana bail bondsman, cornered him in Los Angeles after an all-night vigil at his temporary residence.

Miss Powelson were arrested on grand theft warrants issued by Justice of the Peace Kenneth E. Morrison on complaints charging them with working a bunco scheme in connection with a fraudulent oil lease.

BROUGHT HERE TODAY

Curtiss and his companion were brought to the county jail here by noon today, and they were expected to be arraigned this afternoon.

Judge Fred S. Warner of San Clemente issued a new warrant for Curtiss' arrest on the drunk driving charge, setting bail at $1000, after the Hollywood man assertedly jumped bond on the original charge.

In his "shake-down" telegrams, Curtiss had charged officers with taking $300 from him when they arrested him Oct. 31. The highway patrol was brought into the picture when the telegram to Sacramento was misinterpreted as referring to members of the Orange county patrol.

NEW REMEDY FOR PNEUMONIA

NEW ORLEANS, La. (P)—A new and successful chemical treatment for pneumonia with an extract of warm ox blood gathered from slaughter houses was announced today at the opening of the Southern Medical association's annual meeting.

Dr. Clyde Brooks of the Louisiana State university medical school reported the treatment had brought about a large decrease in the death rate in a series of 800 pneumonia patients. Had it been used only on selected types of cases, he added, "I feel sure that it would have been possible to save the lives of 100 per cent of them."

The new chemical is called "Deutero-Protose" and is made from fibrin, a white protein obtained from the blood of freshly-killed oxen. A small amount injected into the blood stream of a pneumonia patient in the early stages of the disease causes a quick decline of fever and repeated injections over a period of several days have produced quick recoveries, Dr. Brooks declared.

Even in advanced stages of pneumonia in elderly people—the most difficult cases to treat—marked success has resulted, he added. The chemical also has proved beneficial in treating influenza.

Orange Takes Out Liability Insurance

ORANGE.—A $2700 liability insurance contract was awarded last night by city council to Clyde Newton and Paul Muench, agents, to be split between them. The insurance will protect the city for three years against suits growing from accidents on streets and sidewalks, etc., excluding police and compensation insurance features.

Gas Blast Burns WPA Worker

LONG BEACH, (P)—Carl Gildner, 50, a WPA worker, suffered second and third degree burns here early today when a gas explosion wrecked the small apartment room in which he lived. At a hospital Gildner said he had attempted to light a small gas heater. The explosion wrecked the ceiling of the room, blew out the door and tore most of the clothing from Gildner's body. His condition was critical.

Fleishhacker Oil Suit Under Way

LOS ANGELES, (P)—Trial of a damage suit against Herber Fleishhacker, San Francisco, went forward in federal court today.

Denying all motions to dismiss, Judge William Cogswell ordered Fleishhacker to resume testimony in the case, involving Kern county oil lands valued at $1,250,000. Twenty-two heirs of Andre Lazard, Frenchman who originally owned the property, claim Fleishhacker sold it for $35,000 after Lazard's death.

PRISON SITE SUIT LOOMS

SAN BERNARDINO, (P)—Jesse W. Curtis, jr., attorney for the American Crystal Sugar Co., said today any attempt by the state to take possession of the proposed site for the new El Rincon prison, pending a condemnation hearing, will be opposed by court action.

Curtis said the recent supreme court ruling that the state must institute new condemnation proceedings in the name of the prison commission does not mean, in their opinion, that the state can post bond and take immediate possession.

The American Crystal Sugar company has opposed condemnation of its 1300-acre site on the theory the presence of a prison will damage the remainder of the land. It has refused to set any portion of the land to the state.

The condemnation suit will be set for an early hearing before Superior Judge Benjamin F. Warner.

Buena Park Man Called by Death

John Frederick Simpson, 75, a resident of Buena Park for 31 years passed away last evening at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Carl B. Snyder, after an extended illness. He was a native of Michigan and lived in Nebraska for some years before coming to California. He was very active in the development of Buena Park and for many years was the superintendent of the roads in that district. He is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Carl B. Snyder of Buena Park; one sister, Mrs. Rose North of North Platte, Neb., and one brother, Earl Simpson of Decatur, Mich. He was a member of the Buena Park Masonic lodge No. 357.

Funeral services, under the direction of the Hilgenfeld Funeral home, will be conducted tomorrow at 2 o'clock from the Buena Park Congregational church. The Rev. F. Stanley Powles, pastor of the church, will officiate and cremation will follow.

11,000 SEE FARM SHOWS

One hundred seventy demonstrations of agricultural practices by the Orange county agricultural extension service were attended during the year by a total of 11,247 farmers, according to Farm Advisor Harold E. Wahlberg's annual statistical report.

The report, covering the service's twentieth year in Orange county, today was submitted to the University of California and U. S. department of agriculture.

Besides demonstrations, extension service activities included 19 farm tours, 97 project meetings, 12 institutes and field days, 58 farm center meetings and 299 other meetings with a total attendance of 39,557; 2294 requested farm visits, 6405 personal calls at the office for agricultural information, 11,292 bulletins issued, 6854 informational letters written and 52 farm radio broadcasts.

Former Santa Ana Dies at Son's Home

Mrs. Agnes S. Hillestad, 59, a former resident of Santa Ana, died yesterday at the home of her son, Vincent H. Weicher, 323 East Camille street, after a short illness. She was a resident of California for 15 years, and while she was a resident of Santa Ana her husband, Knute E. Hillestad, owned and operated a drug store here. They moved to Long Beach in 1935.

Mrs. Hillestad was active in the Catholic church for many years, and friends are invited to call at the Brown and Wagner Colonial chapel for recitation of the Holy Rosary at 8 o'clock tomorrow evening. Complete funeral arrangements will be announced later.

Santa Ana Couple Married in Yuma

Announcement was made today by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Coutts, 415 Wakeman street, of the wedding Sunday of their daughter, Louise Jones, and Donald Boyd, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Boyd, 412 East Chestnut street.

The couple drove to Yuma, Ariz., where they were married in the Episcopal church. They were attended by Grace Swartz and Edward Spicer, who accompanied them.

Boyd is employed at the Security First National bank. He and his bride are residing at the Vaughn Court apartments.

Hammer Method Not Best

Your success in business will depend largely upon your ability to influence people to do things your way. Few men make a success by the hammer and hit method. One of the best stories I know is told of John Wanamaker in the early days of his merchant career. He walked into a department one day and saw several customers waiting to be served, while several clerks huddled together at the far end of the counter engaged in an animated discussion. Did John Wanamaker call out harshly to them? Did he summon the floor-walker and demand that they be dismissed? No, indeed. All he did was to step behind the counter and serve just one customer. Before her package was handed to her, all the other waiting customers were receiving attention.

I was on the Riviera one winter with some American friends. A new nurse had been engaged for the small child of one of them, Mrs. Zella Langron Larch of Chicago. This new nurse had many good traits, but she had some faults that made her a great trial.

Mrs. Larch handled the matter as skillfully as any capitalist might have handled a situation involving thousands of dollars. She took a sheet of note paper and wrote: Things We Like About Our New Nurse

1. She has a willing nature.
2. She is always pleasant.
3. She knows how to handle little boys and make them like her.
4. She is careful of her personal appearance.
5. She is honest.
Then she turned the paper over and wrote on the other side: Things We Do Not Like About Our New Nurse

1. She is not punctual.
2. She bites her nails.
3. She is not teaching our son to be considerate of others.

The note was pinned on the nurse's pillow when she was out. No reference was ever made to it beyond the nurse saying, the next morning, with an appreciative smile, "I got it, Mrs. Larch."

The air these days is full of preachment against war. I think everybody will agree that Gen. U. S. Grant knew something about war. This is what he said: "I doubt if ever a war was fought over an issue that couldn't have been better settled in some other way."

YULE AIRS TO RING FROM CITY HALL

Joyous caroling and the solemn strains of sacred Yuletide music will once again soar out from the city hall through the clear night air to bring to weary shoppers of Santa Ana below the message of the Christmas tide, when the musical program sponsored each year by the merchants of the city is inaugurated next Saturday at 7 p. m.

Cecil Fross Willis, talented local musician and vocalist, has had the arduous task of arranging the entire schedule of presentations, which will be made by leading musical organizations of the city.

The opening program Dec. 4 will feature the Cantando club under direction of Benjamin Edwards and individual solos by members of the Musical Arts club. Its entire program will be released Friday in The Journal.

The following Saturdays will be taken care of by the WPA symphony orchestra under Leon Eckles' direction and Dodely Paige Harper's chorus, on Dec. 11, and by the junior college, high school and junior high schools' glee clubs on Dec. 18, directed by Myrtle Martin, Alan Revell, Herbert Bickie, Edith Cornell, and Esther Jean Davis.

Starting Dec. 20, when Santa Ana stores start their "open each evening" session, the programs will be heard each night, beginning with a presentation by the First Baptist church choir, led by Mary Batten Steffensen. On the 21st the Cecilian Singers will be heard, and on the 22nd, the American Legion and American Legion auxiliary quartet, directed by Ruth Armstrong, will perform. The Vokal Studio Singers, directed also by Miss Armstrong, will give the program Dec. 23.

Climax of the entire program will be a Christmas Eve presentation starting at 6:45 p. m., during which the national prize-winning Elks' double quartet will sing the favorite songs of Christmas. Miss Armstrong is also director of this group.

Work on Street Xmas Trees Starts

Decorating 20 blocks of Santa Ana's business section with 200 silver-tipped firs and Christmas lights will be started tomorrow morning, according to Phil Brown of the retail division of the Chamber of Commerce.

Two trees 12 feet in height will be placed by each light standard in the area to be decorated and a number of attractive Christmas lights will be strung in the trees.

BANDITS' LOOT NABBED

ROGERS, Ark. (P)—Night Chief of Police Walter Dean today announced the arrest of two men whom he said had confessed the $14,434.76 robbery of the Citizens' bank in Springfield, Mo., yesterday. He said the two were booked as Fern Moore, 30, of Rogers, and Archey Holbrook, 35, of near Springfield, Ark. Officers recovered $13,285 of the amount taken in the raid, Dean said.

YULE AIRS TO RING FROM CITY HALL

Joyous caroling and the solemn strains of sacred Yuletide music will once again soar out from the city hall through the clear night air to bring to weary shoppers of Santa Ana below the message of the Christmas tide, when the musical program sponsored each year by the merchants of the city is inaugurated next Saturday at 7 p. m.

STATE MAY BUY HOMES FOR VETERANS

SACRAMENTO. (AP)—Governor Merriam said today he would not be surprised if the next legislature gave veterans who have lived in the state 10 to 15 years the opportunity to purchase homes and farms through the veteran's welfare board.

At present the law limits the veterans to those who entered the World war from California.

The governor made his comment after John R. Quinn, director of the department of military and veterans affairs, had explained at length the government's low cost housing plan.

Quinn said with few amendments low cost housing could be handled under the veterans welfare board law and the governor stated if the veterans' law had worked so satisfactorily there was no reason why it should not work for other classes of citizens.

The directors said California has not the slum clearance problems of congested cities of the east but the great need for low cost housing in the state was among the citizens who earn from $80 to $100 a month providing the cost was spread over 30 to 40 years and he suggested a $10,000,000 bond issue would be sufficient to start the movement.

Finance Director A. E. Stockburger told the governor at the council meeting total state expenditures to Oct. 31 this year were $47,368,133 as compared with $31,464,811 the same period last year.

Stockburger said requirements for public assistance and relief continued to be heavy during October so that the state's general fund expenditure disbursements for the first four months of the present fiscal year were 50 per cent greater than at this time last year.

IT'S LIKE this

Call it "modern" if you want to, but the Los Angeles Art association's second section of the International loan exhibit is no more than a historical resume of painting the last three hundred years! Expecting fire works, one is going to be dreadfully disappointed upon viewing Corot's "Dance of the Nymphs".

Or finding the Duchamp "Nude Descending the Stairs" more or less just around the corner from George Watts' "Thomas Carlyle". There's a lot of George Inness, but all the good Inness must have found their way to the Chicago Art Institute!

And if the estate of Mrs. Henry Everett hadn't lent half the show, it could have been in a corner of Bullock's parking lot!

It is, as I say, to bad if you were planning to go in an excited state of mind and be informed on the progress of the contemporary arts. You can't there!

From an educational standpoint, much more was to be learned, much more was exciting, at Millard Sheets' Pomona Fair exhibition.

And now that the bad taste is all gone, let's get on to the good things.

Each of the Chicago's is exceptionally good. Portraits of artist and his mother are strong, convincing and forceful. If the proportions aren't right! (I'm only reporting what I heard).

I am very fond of "Sunlight Square," lingered over "Le Depart du Poete."

Near the portraits is Salvador Dali's "L'Ecce Noster" of the Matland loans that make the show at all worth seeing) that is, to me, a very important Dali. For depth, attention to significant detail, and general brilliance of painting it is hard to surpass.

And if you automatically connect Pablo Picasso with abstracts, take a look at the "Woman with Blue Turban." It has a majesty and dignity not often found in Picasso.

Attention being directed to Karl Hofer in New York at present, makes his "Sylvia" and "Card Players" very interesting to study. Galka Scheyer has lent Lyonel Feininger's very brilliant "Windmills," Paul Klee's "Fish Enchantment." These strike, probably, the most "modern" note in the showing.

Not far from them is Vlamink's "Les Toits" a colorful, and pleasing, landscape far removed from the common rendition.

Returning again to the American section, quite a number of these should be put in storage, or destroyed! They are scarcely worthy of a library, and one would hate trying to live with them!

Quite refreshing, therefore, is Maurice Sterne's good "Bali Drama."

Grant Wood's "Daughters of the Revolution" has undergone chemical change, I think, since it was at the 1934 Chicago fair.

Some of the finest things from the Everett collection are the three Lucioni landscapes. Don't miss them.

I looked into the garden, looked away, looked again and made proper genuflections to Gilbert Leung's "Good Earth" (the terra cotta lady who made her debut at Pomona fair and who has gotten herself a more satisfactory brass plant to which to cling).

Roger Noble Burnham, being in charge of sculpture proffers four pieces, while the very lovely Rodin Mrs. Fred Bixby lent isn't even listed in the catalogue!

In a quieter mood, analysis would indicate the show had been done in the best Hollywood manner.

TOWNSEND NEWS, VIEWS

By WALTER R. KOBB

The Orange county Townsend clubs' membership drive which has been in progress since the first of September will close tonight at midnight. From present indications a number of clubs are hoping to be the one which wins the grand prize of $50 for having attained the largest percentage in membership gain. There is a second prize of $25 and a third one of $15. In addition a prize of $10 will be given to the individual in the county who was successful in obtaining the largest number of new members for the club of which he is a member. A total of $100 in prizes will be awarded when the returns are all in and the percentages figured.

If possible it is the intention to make announcement of the winners at the last night of the bazaar next Saturday evening. It is now known that in the neighborhood of 1350 new members have been added to the clubs during the three months contest but definite numbers will be announced by this column later. The three members of the 19th district Townsend board from Orange county are responsible for having initiated the new member drive. John L. White of Laguna Beach is given credit by the others as having provided the inspiration for the idea and then John W. Sauters of Tustin and E. E. Proud of La Habra gave their approval and joined their efforts with White's in raising the $100 in prize money and in general sponsoring of the drive which has resulted so beneficially to the Orange county clubs. Come on folks, you have until midnight tonight to get more members for your club.

Santa Ana Townsend hall again begins to take the gala attire of another Orange county bazaar which begins tomorrow morning to continue until Saturday night at 10 p. m. The Orange county Townsend auxiliary women have been working tirelessly for many months in preparation of this affair and so have many of the clubs. Last May the hall was a thing of beauty beyond the power of words to describe and the promise is that this bazaar's decorations will be equally beautiful.

All you folks who read this column whether you are Townsend club members or not, don't fail to come to the hall and see what a wonderful bazaar the Townsend ladies put over. And if you see something displayed for sale that fits your plans for Christmas presents and will purchase same, your money will do double duty in promoting happiness—it will make the receiver of the gift happy and at the same time help the Townsend cause accomplish its intended reasons for happiness. But whether you buy or not, look the hall and booth decorations over, they will please you immensely.

Don't forget the Rev. Josiah Tucker of Placentia is in town tonight as the speaker for Santa Ana Club No. 6 at 7:30 o'clock in the Community building of the First Christian church at West Sixth and North Broadway. You will enjoy hearing him.

Santa Ana Club No. 8 is meeting tonight at 7:30 in the Lincoln school on French street in the 1400 block. The writer talked with J. H. Nicholson over the telephone and learned that he plans on being present if possible. He has had a long continued attack of the flu but seems definitely improved now.

Walter R. Kobb is speaking for the Anaheim Club No. 1 at 7:30 tonight in the Townsend Club building at 210 South Clementine street. He will talk on "The Townsend Plan's superiority to the Old Age Security Act. Mrs. Ida A. Freeman will preside over the business meeting.

Santa Ana Club No. 5 will meet at 7:30 tonight in the Richmond Methodist church at Richmond and South Parton streets. J. A. Yerger will preside in the absence of W. A. Zimmerman who still continues in a state of inability to leave the house but is mending. The writer communicated by telephone with Mrs. Zimmerman and learned that she is up and around the house again but not strong yet. Mrs. W. T. Miller of this club still isn't as well as usual but is better. Last week J. H. Walsh addressed this club and is said to have given a very good message.

Santa Ana Club No. 12 meets tonight in the Santa Ana Gardens Community building on the Diamond school grounds with J. J. Barber, president in charge. The meeting time will be 7:30 p. m.

Santa Ana Shoe Stores Praised

Five of Santa Ana's shoe stores receive prominent mention in the current issue of "The Boot and Shoe Recorder," a national shoe weekly magazine for retail footwear merchants. The leading shoe men in this community are praised by the publication as specialists in the work in which they are engaged.

Newcomb's is praised not only for its merchandising and its sales policy but the store itself is described as being "smart, modern and sophisticated." Mrs. Alice Peterson's store is described as specializing in "the personal touch" which she has gained while in business here 25 years.

"Sebastian's Brownhill give a good deal of attention to service and strongly stress correct fitting," says the magazine. "Fred R. Rice and his son have a 'correct shoe store,' the article continues its comments. "Mrs. Gertrude Bradford of the Children's Bookery concentrates on the younger generation," the publication concludes.

—these things are interesting, but what is their significance?

There is again the suggestion Arthur Miller made concerning the first section—dealers have made it their vehicle.

It is worth the admission fee. The real hope lies in the reiterated promise "California painters are especially to be featured in subsequent exhibits!"

NEW WELL IN SANTA MARIA

SANTA BARBARA. (AP)—Extension of the Santa Maria oil field seemed assured today as a result of the bringing in of a new 1500 barrel well by the Pacific Western Oil company.

The well was brought in yesterday on a 40 acre lease owned by Frank J. McCoy, Santa Maria hotel man. There was a flow of 17 gravity oil that promised to build up above the 1500-barrel mark.

Pacific Western officials said the rig will be moved immediately 600 feet southward for another well.

American Male Not So Hot, Research Shows

NEW YORK. (AP)—A cross-fire of psychological and sociological research is peaking the "normal American male" today and found him—physically speaking—"by no means flattering to American vanity."

The verbal x-ray exposure came from Dr. John Dollard, professor of the Yale university institute of human relations, who pictured the average male as a sort of jigsaw personality distinguishable if not altogether distinguished by 21 traits.

Here are some of them: He's no adonis. He is "flat of chest, round of shoulder, and protuberant of paunch."

He expects to act according to his sex role "and this usually involved the idea of marriage and children, with possibly some outside sex experience before marriage and after."

He has faith in democracy.

Home Dance Lessons Win Partners Galore

Why Not Tango Perfectly? Pleased as punch! Tonight Mary and Don show the world they can dance.

They've a right to be proud. Before they practised with diagrams at home, their ballroom blunders were the joke of their crowd.

Now look how gaily they dip and cross in a lovely tango. Our diagrams show:

Man's part: 1. Step to side on left foot. 2. Cross right foot in front of left. Pause. 3. Uncross feet; step forward on left foot. And, place right foot forward to side of left. 4. Close left foot to right without putting weight on it. And the girl's part: 1. Step to side on right. 2. Cross left in front of right, heel leading. Pause. 3. Step directly back on right. And, place left foot back to side of right. 4. Close right to left, no weight.

You can teach yourself the latest dance steps. Follow diagrams, step-by-step directions in our 32-page booklet. Tango, fox-trot, waltz, rumba.

UNDERWORLD PROBE ASKED

MINNEAPOLIS. (AP)—Appointment of a special prosecutor to investigate underworld activities here was asked today by the Minneapolis Commonwealth club as the coroner chose a jury to hear the inquest into the slaying of Patrick J. Corcoran, labor leader.

The club, addressing its appeal to District Judge E. F. Waite, pointed out to several unsolved Minneapolis murders and to "evidence of rackets involving liquor, gambling and vice."

Dr. Gilbert Seashore, coroner, named persons familiar with the labor and political situation in Minneapolis for the inquest.

Corcoran was shot through the head when he returned home late at night.

Strong Thief Walks Away With 2270 Nickels

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—J. R. Richardson, telephone box collector, was robbed of $136 in nickels yesterday by a man who stumbled under the weight of the 2270 coins but plunged into an automobile and fled.

Richardson's companion, Miss Etta Pearl, cashier of a telephone company branch, started with him into the Citizen's First National bank at Bronson avenue and Hollywood boulevard as the man accosted them saying "this is a stick up. Hand over the dough."

Miss Pearl fled into the bank. She had $5000 of her company's money, and she deposited it.

CLAIM PERFECT BRIDGE HAND

SAN PEDRO. (AP)—Perfect hands were held by each member of an auction bridge foursome on the night of Nov. 17 aboard the liner Mariposa between Australia and Pago Pago, they and ship's officers reported when the Mariposa docked here yesterday.

They said the cards were shuffled twice and cut before the deal and numerous persons saw the hands. The game was in the finals of the ship's bridge tournament.

The players were Mrs. Mildred Seydell, Atlanta, Ga., newspaper columnist, who dealt and held the spade hand; her partner, Major A. B. Speirs, wealthy Scotchman, who held the hearts; Mrs. Lloyd Hughes, film actor's wife, diamonds, and her partner, Paul B. Seydell, Atlanta, Ga., manufacturer, husband of the dealer, clubs.

Actor Hughes had just left the game, asking Major Speirs to replace him. Mrs. Seydell bid one spade. Mrs. Hughes bid two diamonds, Major Speirs three hearts, Seydell a grand slam in clubs. This galvanized Mrs. Seydell into drastic action. She ended the proceeding with a grand slam declaration in spades.

Rebel Air Fleet In New Bombings

HENDAYE. Franco-Spanish Frontier. (AP)—Thirty Spanish insurgent bombing planes, escorted by 40 fighting ships, were reported today to have attacked Alcala de Henares, about 15 miles east and slightly north of Madrid.

Although the attack took place shortly after noon yesterday, the number of victims had not been made known today. Government sources said, however, that the attackers dropped 30 bombs and government fliers engaged the armada in fierce "dog fights."

Gas Winter Air Conditioning keeps every room healthfully warm

(Even the basement is livable!)

HUMIDIFIES — FILTERS — CIRCULATES

Make your home automatically comfortable during the cold months! Know the joy of having uniform temperature throughout the house, with fresh, clean warm air in constant circulation. Let the thermostat take care of the weather!

You can do this easily—and inexpensively—with natural gas winter air conditioning. And what's more, you'll have a permanent heating system—not merely for this winter but for many years to come.

Even in summer this equipment proves its amazing usefulness. It assures healthful ventilation by drawing fresh air into the house—filtering it and keeping it in circulation.

Remember, it is not necessary for your home to have a basement—not necessary to make a large down payment. Look into the cost of installing and operating a gas furnace—right away. See your heating equipment dealer or your gas company.

SOUTHERN COUNTIES GAS COMPANY

"Let's ALL keep warm this winter!"

IT PAYS TO BUY GOOD APPLIANCES!

For efficient, economical service, gas floor furnaces and vented gas circulating heaters are outstanding. They keep rooms healthfully warm and prevent dampness on walls. Both types may be equipped for automatic temperature control.

Gas Floor Furnace

Here is the convenience and comfort of furnace heat at low cost! This type of gas appliance affords warmth plus circulation. It is modest in purchase price, simple to install. It takes up no space in the house and, at the same time, requires no basement.

Vented Gas Circulating Heater

This attractive appliance helps to maintain proper circulation throughout the room, providing more uniform temperature. It brings warmth and comfort quickly, too.

Another Ghost Gallops—and How!

Here's the Red Grange of today, sports fans. This young man, who is galloping over Illinois gridirons 10 years after the famous "ghost," recently pulled 100,000 fans into Chicago stadium for his farewell game. He is Wild Bill De Correvont of Chicago's Austin High school. Not only that, but he is the nation's leading scorer in football, be it high school, college, or professional.

Michigan State Accepts Orange Bowl Invitation

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Jack Baldwin, Orange Bowl committee chairman, said today Michigan State college has accepted an invitation to play in the sixth annual New Year's Day football game here.

Saints Even Choice for Title Game

The football team which opened the year without a chance to get anywhere leveled its sights on the invasion of Santa Barbara High school's Dons for the C. I. F. semi-final championship round at 2 o'clock this Saturday afternoon in the Municipal Bowl.

Now the Santa Ana High school Saints have a better than even chance to knock off the Dons and go into the finals for the first time since the Saint reign of '31 and '32 when they were champs and runner-ups.

The Bill Foote-Joe Koegler preppers captured the Citrus Belt crown and then skinned their former Coast League playmates from Long Beach last week, 15 to 12.

A defense for the northerners' razzle-dazzle offense which carried them through an undefeated season will be worked on this week. Opponents' passing which has bothered the Saint backs considerably also will be stressed, while the line will be instructed how to cope with the Dons' spread formation.

Larry Stump and Wayne Piper, who were laid up from the long Beach encounter, will be set for the tilt.

FORDHAM, ALABAMA IN BOWL?

Hoss-Traders Meet for Yearly Jig-Saw Party; Ball Players on Auction Block

GIANTS MAY ANGLE FOR VAN MUNGO

MILWAUKEE. (AP)—Rumors flew about today like fungoes in a spring training camp as registration began for the annual convention of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues. Many of baseball's notables, however, had been here for a day or two in one of the largest pre-convention attendances on record.

Late arrivals yesterday included Manager Bill Terry of the New York Giants and his minor league lieutenant and former third baseman, Manager Travis Jackson of the Jersey City club in the International league. Terry immediately closeted himself in a hotel room, and fresh impetus was given to the currently top rumor that the Giants were interested in Van Lingle Mungo, fireball pitcher given a failing mark in deportment by the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Another in unfamiliar "civvies" was Frankie Frisch, manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, who was assisting in holding up one of the pillars in the lobby of the convention hotel (Schroeder). No rumors concerned Frisch particularly, except the 100 per cent denial of the story that Joe Medwick, Frisch's outfielder, would be traded to either the Milwaukee or subsequent major league meeting at Chicago.

A rumor apparently gaining strength fast was that John (They Can't Beat Us) Ryan, reserve Giant infielder, would succeed Ray Schalk as manager of the Buffalo Bisons in the International. Schalk returned last week to the American Association, where he gained his first fame as a catcher, to manage Norman Perry's Indianapolis club.

Although denied by officials of the Milwaukee American Association baseball club, the report persisted that a deal had been put through sending Lin Storti, French Uhl, and George Bahr, all members of the Milwaukee Brewers last year, to the Hollywood Coast League club.

Clarence (Pants) Rowland, former owner of the Brewers and now scout for the Chicago Cubs, insisted Tony Lazzeri would not at any time during the 1938 season be appointed as manager of the Cubs or serve in any other way but as a coach or utility infield man.

There were rumors, too, the Cubs had offered Pitcher Larry French, and Outfielders Augie Galan and Tuck Starnback for Pitcher Van Lingle Mungo of the Dodgers.

'FIXED' RACES ARE PROBED

BOWIE, Md. (AP)—Two more cases of tampering with race horses were discovered here today, bringing the 24-hour total to four. Small sponges were inserted in the nostrils of each of the four thoroughbreds. The sponges interfere with breathing and slow horses during races.

Track officials announced yesterday they had ordered a thorough probe of the latest tampering.

Today a year ago—Minnesota topped the Associated Press final national football poll with 332 points. Louisiana State second with 308, followed by Pittsburgh, Alabama and Washington.

Whizzer's Gang In Cotton Bowl

DALLAS, Texas. (AP)—It will be Byron "Whizzer" White and the Colorado University Buffaloes against top gridiron talent of the Southwest in a New Year's game in the Dallas Cotton Bowl. The Rocky Mountain champions formally accepted the cotton Bowl committee's invitation last night. The "Whizzer," a triple threat, and the nation's leading individual scorer, will find either Ollie Cordell or Ernie Linn attempting to match his antics if the Rice Institute Owls of Houston win the Southwest conference title here Saturday by defeating Southern Methodist.

COLORADO TOUGH

But if the Owls lose and Texas Christian university of Fort Worth automatically ascends, the Horned Frogs will present "Little Man" Davey O'Brien, Sammy Baugh's successor, to play opposite White. A tie between Rice and Southern Methodist would throw the Owls and Frogs in a deadlock for the title, necessitating a choice between them for the Bowl entry.

The Buffaloes finished an eight-game schedule without a defeat or tie, beating seven conference teams and Missouri of the Big Six, and scoring 248 points—of which Quarterback White accounted for 122—to their opponents 26.

SOUTHERN RECORDS

Both White and Gene Moore, 200-pound center who backs up the line, were named on the all-conference team for the second year. White is the Rocky Mountain's serious threat for all-American honors.

Rice, boasting three wins, a loss and a tie in conference play to date, lost to Oklahoma, tied Tulsa, won from Auburn of the Southeastern conference, and lost to Louisiana State of the same conference, in out-of-circuit play.

Texas Christian, its schedule already ended, won three, lost one, tied two in the conference. Outstanding results included a loss to Ohio State, win from Tulsa, 7-6 loss to Fordham, and 10-9 loss to Centenary of Shreveport, La.

WHITTIER WINS GOLF MATCH

Whittier women's golf squad trimmed the Willowick females this week-end in a four-team match, 8½ to 3½. Mrs. J. L. Ainsworth, in charge of the local octet, reported.

Match results:
Mrs. M. Burkhardt and Mrs. T. McClurkin (Whittier), 3; Mrs. Charles Chapman and Mrs. J. L. Ainsworth, 0.

Mrs. Rella Woodington and Mrs. Ben Livesey (Willowick), 2; Mrs. F. Raeder and Mrs. C. Foster (Whittier), 1.

Mrs. Ludy Schaffer and Mrs. P. Hooven (Willowick), 1½; Mrs. Jack Potts and Mrs. C. Koontz (Whittier), 1½.

Mrs. C. Rowe and Mrs. L. Little (Whittier), 3; Mrs. Sidney Harris and Mrs. Ed Chapman (Willowick), 0.

'C'mon, Guy! You Goin' to Take All Day?

It's a tense moment in a battle of the century—another time out for the Tigers. Though they weigh only 105 pounds, these young gridriders of Philadelphia's Episcopal Academy take their game just as seriously as the collegians. They are shown during their recent clash with Meadowbrook school's 105-pound squad of swineskin warriors. This kind of junior football is taking hold all over the country and is a vast improvement over the dangerous sandlot football of yesterday. Notice the modern equipment.

L. A. SQUAD DOMINATES GLOVE BOUTS

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Seven Los Angeles amateurs wore Golden Glove crowns today after engaging teams from San Francisco and Seattle in a tri-city boxing tournament.

One Seattle fighter, Sailor Earl Dugan, managed to avert a Los Angeles shut-out by capturing the 147-pound division title.

Highlight of last night's ring-fest, attended by 10,000 fans at Olympic auditorium, was the heavyweight victory of Joe Hill, deaf mute of Taft, Calif. "Silent Joe" was a calm, crafty performer as he outboxed Frank Glover, Seattle, in the final four-rounder.

The winning Golden Glove goes to Boston shortly to meet other sectional champions in a national tourney.

Final results included:
112 pounds—Manuel Ortiz, El Centro, Calif., stopped Ken Lindsay, Seattle (3).

118 pounds—Jimmy Murphy, Los Angeles, stopped Bobby Parker, Seattle (1).

126 pounds—Eddie Marcus, Los Angeles, knocked out Jimmy Coffey, San Francisco (2).

135 pounds—Frankie Lujan, Los Angeles, outpointed George Crennel, San Francisco.

147 pounds—Sailor Earl Dugan, Seattle, outpointed Manuel Figueroa, San Francisco.

160 pounds—Herman Graves, El Centro, Calif., outpointed Maxie Teel, San Francisco.

175 pounds—Henry Mobley, Los Angeles, outpointed Sailor Sewell Hips, Seattle.

MONTANA IN SUN BOWL

EL PASO, Texas. (AP)—Montana university was named today as the probable opponent of Texas Tech in a Sun Bowl grid game here New Year's day.

At Missoula, Mont., a meeting of the university's athletic board was to be held today to consider an invitation. Athletic officials there said wishes of players would be taken into consideration.

A feeler sent Santa Clara brought a statement that school was not interested in a Sun Bowl bid. Gonzaga previously has been suggested as a selection.

Dairy Quint Trims Advent Basketeers

The Advent Christian basketball team took it on the chin last night, 28 to 21, from Patterson's Dairy in the feature Y. M. C. A. basketball league tilt. Peppering the basket from all angles, the Church of the Brethren's five scored an upset over the Southern Counties Gas company quint in the other half of the double-header, 39-26.

The Thinker

Maybe Stub's worrying about who his mighty Bears will face in the Rose Bowl Jan. 1. Or maybe he's just worrying. Anyway, here's California's coach in a pensive mood, despite the fact that his gridiron circus ran roughshod to a Pacific Coast conference this year.

Panthers Turn Down Bowl Games

PITTSBURGH. (AP)—Pitt's undefeated Panthers took themselves out of Rose Bowl or any other bowl consideration today, although there was a possibility they might change their minds.

By a secret vote, reported to be 16-15, the gridriders rejected a proposal for any post-season contest, content with nine victories and a tie on the regular schedule.

POCKET MONEY
The action constituted a "modified sit-down strike," Sports Editor Harvey Boyle of the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette asserted. Although University authorities denied players had made any demands, Boyle said they had requested:

Pocket money of between $100 and $200 each for a trip to Pasadena; an immediate vacation of two weeks; and that the full squad of 60 regulars and substitutes be taken along to the coast.

Immediately following the session, several players attempted to rally the squad for a second meeting to reconsider the action but failed in their first attempt. They continued their efforts.

FOOTBALL ENDED
Directors of Athletics James Hagan and John Weber, secretary of the university, said in a joint statement that the university "did not and will not" call a second meeting. They added that if the players reconsider their decision the university would "listen."

They continued:
"However, the situation with yesterday's vote of the players tabulated, means football for the 1937 season at Pitt is concluded."

Pitt had received invitations to be the Sugar Bowl in New Orleans and the Cotton Bowl in Dallas, but there was no official announcement that a Rose Bowl bid had been extended to Jock Sutherland's eleven.

FOUR TRIPS
Explaining the vote on a possible Rose Bowl bid, Weber said: "We had invitations from the Sugar Bowl and the Cotton Bowl which we wanted to place before the boys, so we just tossed in the Rose Bowl for consideration too—in the event we should be invited."

The Panthers have played four times in the Rose Bowl in the last 10 years, taking the championship by defeating Washington last year, 21-0. Many of the seniors on the present squad have made the coast trip twice.

N. Y. PICKS RAMS; TEAMS RATE EVEN

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—The list of contenders for California's opponent in the Rose Bowl appeared narrowed today to Fordham and Alabama.

University of Pittsburgh, the unofficial No. 1 choice, withdrew from the picture when its football squad voted yesterday against playing any post season games.

While Kenneth Priestly, California's graduate manager who eventually will make the official selection, maintained silence, sports writers rated Fordham and Alabama about a toss-up for the invitation.

FORDHAM LOOMS
Coach Leonard B. "Stub" Allison said he didn't care especially who his Golden Bears play, and that Priestley's decision would be good enough for him.

Between Fordham and Alabama, the southern school has the better record, having finished the regular season unbeaten and untied. Undefeated Fordham, overwhelming choice of New York and most of the East, played a scoreless tie with Pitt.

Aside from these two, there is some feeling that Minnesota or Dartmouth might be persuaded to throw to the winds such things as final examinations and sentiment in favor of post-season contests and accept an invitation if offered.

SEATS TAKEN
Another angle for consideration was that Alabama, which has played in the Pasadena Rose Bowl four times, might accept a bid to play in New Orleans' Sugar Bowl. Fordham never has played in Pasadena.

Insofar as Mr. John Public is concerned, it makes little difference who plays California. Practically all the 80,000 seats are spoken for already. The 27,000 California alumni each may buy six tickets, and then the visiting team will be entitled to a block of duets.

While the guessing raged and Priestly was status quo, the boys who definitely will play Jan. 1, the Pacific Coast conference champion California players who are undefeated but tied once, began light practices to condition themselves after a two-weeks layoff.

PITT TOPS TEAM POLL
NEW YORK. (AP)—If you heed the fellows who look at football and write about it, Pitt's Panthers are the best collection of players in the United States this year and there's not much room for argument.

In the seventh and final weekly ranking poll of writers, made by the Associated Press, 29 of 33 experts throughout the country picked Pitt for first place. Two others split the ballot between Pitt and Fordham, while single votes were cast for Fordham and Alabama for top rank. California earned second place in the balloting without getting one first place vote.

Counting 10 points for a first place vote, nine for second, etc., the Panthers polled 327 points to California's 277. Alabama, undefeated and untied, could take no better than fourth, and Santa Clara, also with a clean slate, tied for ninth with Notre Dame.

A year ago Minnesota beat out Louisiana State in the final poll, but for 1937 the Gophers wound up fifth and L. S. U. eighth.

Here is the final tabulation with points on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis and the 1936 rankings of the teams:

First 10	Pts.	1936
1. Pittsburgh (29 first, 2 ties for first)	327	3
2. California	277	*
3. Fordham (1 first, 2 ties for first)	253	*
4. Alabama (1 first)	246	4
5. Minnesota	104	1
6. Villanova	103	*
7. Dartmouth	102	*
8. Louisiana State	97	2
9. (Tied) Notre Dame	90	8
10. Santa Clara	90	6

*Unranked.
Second 10: 11. Nebraska, 35; 12. Yale, 18; 13. Ohio State, 14; 14. Holy Cross and Arkansas (tied), 9 each; 15. Texas Christian, 8; 16. Colorado, 7; 17. Rice, 6; 18. North Carolina, 5; 19. Duke, 4. Also ran: Vanderbilt and Auburn, each 3; Cornell, Harvard and Washington, each 1.

Washington, the West's Rose Bowl team last New Year's day, was fifth in the final 1936 poll, and Nebraska ninth. Northwestern, No. 7, and Pennsylvania, No. 10, were clear out of the picture this year.

'GO' SIGNAL AWAITED ON PAVILION

Beach City Sends Contract to PWA

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—Work will be started on this city's impressive new beach pavilion just as soon as the contract between the city and the contractor is approved by WPA officials in San Francisco.

This assurance was given today following a city council session last night at which the contract was read.

The deal is with Brunzell and Jacobson, Los Angeles builders, who offered to do the job for $48,882. The firm was low bidder among 15.

The city council at the same time instructed City Treasurer Bayard Butcher to deposit $30,000 in a local bank as earnest of the city's readiness to go ahead with the program. Remainder of the cost will be paid by the PWA.

Location of the imposing new structure will be on the bluff at the head of the present pier, according to present plans, although there is a move under way to place it 250 feet from the shore over the water so as to construct a marine amphitheater in the intervening area. It will be two stories high, with a civic auditorium and dance floor on the street level, while recreation rooms will front the beach underneath.

LIONS HONOR H. S. TEAM

LAGUNA BEACH.—The annual football banquet, sponsored by the Lions club, is to be held at the Hotel Laguna dining room, Thursday at 7:30 p. m.

Ray Fisher, president of the Lions club, will preside and the main speaker will be Bill Cook, football coach at the Santa Ana Junior college. Other well-known speakers are to be: Linton Simmons, superintendent of the Laguna High school, the Rev. R. I. Brahams and Charles F. (Chuck) Riesner, motion picture director.

Also attending the banquet will be 52 varsity and class B players, 15 of whom are first string men and have played on the varsity team for the last two years. They will graduate this year.

This is to be the first football banquet at which there will be graduating members who have attended the Laguna Beach High school for the last four years and commemorates the fourth year in which Laguna has had a high school.

Vandermaast, Inc., will present a sweater to the most outstanding and popular player, who will be chosen by members of the varsity squad, and to the most improved player on the varsity squad will go a blanket. He will also have his name put on the permanent blanket trophy, hanging in the Laguna High school gym.

GUILD PLAY BIG SUCCESS

LAGUNA BEACH.—Those who looked forward to seeing the Theater Guild's "Blind Alley," were well rewarded by an excellent rendition of this dramatic play, held on Saturday evening, at the Laguna High school auditorium.

The story revolves around a psychoanalyst, Dr. Shelby, who seeks to analyze the criminal mind of Hal Wilson, superbly acted by David Paul, with the action taking place entirely in the home of Dr. Shelby, C. Wes Denmore, his wife, Christine Denmore, and their small son Teddy, Peter Kaye, where they are held unwilling prisoners by four members of the gang world.

Unusually good in supporting roles were: Mazie Stoner, Betty Shippe, who, as Hal Wilson's mother, gives a perfect performance, Fred Landis, Don Williamson, does well as a friend of the family, and Tommy, Peter Kaye, who shows promise.

Agnes, Lee Ridell, Nora, Dorothy Goode, Buck, Dick Nolan, and Nick, Joseph Paul, should be acclaimed for their skillful versions of their respective parts.

ORANGE XMAS LIGHTS SET

ORANGE.—Work was begun Monday on the job of installing the colored lights in the Orange Plaza, that makes it look like a spot of Santa Claus lane. The poles were set around the Plaza circle, and the work of stringing the wire started. J. J. Hutchins, in charge of the work, announced that it will take a week to complete the lights' installation, as more and better Christmas decorations are planned for this year.

In all a total of 1245 colored light bulbs will blaze forth when the switch is turned next Saturday night.

As usual the huge star will be placed in the top of the large palm tree facing the west end of the Plaza. The pine tree at the east entrance will be the official Christmas tree, with lights galore, and topped by a 200 watt light.

Sunday Class Has Skating Party

GARDEN GROVE.—More than 25 young people from the Intermediate department of the First Methodist church Sunday school were taken to Santa Ana for a skating party at the rink there Friday evening.

Furnishing transportation and accompanying the young people were Mrs. C. G. Hall, Rodney Arkley, Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Smith, Mrs. R. L. Young, Dr. Charles F. Seitter, Mrs. L. L. Claypool, Mrs. A. A. Schmitzer, Miss Joy Schmitzer and Harvey Emley.

'WHITE TEA' IS SET BY CLUB

GARDEN GROVE.—A white tea is planned in connection with the meeting of the Woman's Civic club at 2 p. m. Friday at the clubhouse. Guest speaker for the session will be N. J. Hatter, rector of St. Mesias Episcopal church of Santa Ana, who will discuss "The History of Early Church Music."

The program also will include a Christmas reading by Mrs. E. E. Smith of Anaheim, district chairman of Bible literature and various Christmas musical numbers.

For the white tea to follow the meeting, all members are requested to bring gifts for distribution to needy families.

Party Honors Frances Hurd

WESTMINSTER.—Mrs. Mickey Montgomery and Mrs. Hazel Hurd were hostesses at an evening party, recently, complimenting Frances Dell Ford, who was observing her birthday.

The affair was given at the home of Mrs. Montgomery in Anaheim. Guests included Dorothy Day, Helen Devers, Laura May Shimmigh, Ellanace Hyllon, Julia Day, Douglas Beckham, Raymond Rose, Delbert Penhall, Billy Pullen and Frank Mayberry.

La Habra Pioneer Taken by Death

LA HABRA.—Mrs. Dolores Samsuela Esseverri, of the few remaining pioneers of this section was buried Saturday in Los Angeles. She had been a resident of the La Habra district since 1872. She is survived by her husband, J. Esseverri, and four daughters, Marian, Mrs. W. W. Bills, Mrs. Gus Lindner, and Mrs. Gold Lindauer, and a son, Joseph.

"ALIBI GIRL"

Begin here:
Nancy Roland, summoned to police headquarters supposedly to aid in solving the mysterious murder of her wealthy uncle, Dodge Roland, realizes, after hours of questioning, that she is being accused of the crime. "But I was with my cousin, Alan, at the time the murder was committed," she insists. "I was alone in my room on Thursday night, July 1," she insists. Captain Wyman therefore summons Jory. As though a blow had been struck against her body, Nancy hears her cousin testify it was Wednesday, June 30—not Thursday, July 1, the night of the murder. "They were together!" Then, an old station attendant called by Wyman testifies to having seen Nancy with Jory the night of June 30. A night watchman further swears he saw the girl near her uncle's home the night of the murder. July 1, Nancy is lodged in jail, bewildered at the lies being told by her cousin and his witnesses. Now go on with the story:

CHAPTER FOUR
The man in gray was no longer sitting behind Captain Wyman. He was in the chair Nancy had vacated, his long legs spread out in front of him, his cane lying on the floor.

Wyman, his uniform coat unbuttoned, was smoking a fat long cigar. The two men were alone in the office.

"Get what you want, Mr. Howard," he asked.

"Maybe, and maybe not. I never knew. All very interesting, though. A new angle for me. First time I've ever sat in on a conference like this. You would call it a conference, wouldn't you?" He had a pleasant voice with a bit of a drawl.

"Maybe you would," Wyman answered grimly, giving his cigar a sharp snap with his strong front teeth. "But I would call it the first step in sending a murderer where she belongs."

"You definitely think that the girl is—"

Wyman finished for him. "Guilty? Yes, she's guilty. No doubt in my mind about it. Guilty as they make 'em."

"They smoked in silence for a while, and little swirls of blue smoke from the captain's pipe and little spirals of white smoke from Julian Howard's cigar traveled in separate paths to the old high ceiling, met there and mingled."

Howard lifted his eyes and watched the smoke meeting and drifting together, blue and white against the dirty stained ceiling.

"You think she lied, then?" he asked finally, still looking upward.

"Sure, and she's the kind that will stand on her lie. Go up to Teahachapi still lying, and if she gets the new lethal chamber, she'll go there lying. Stubborn. I know the kind."

"Women are worse than men when it comes to lying. Don't see how she had the face to do it when I brought in Jory, and then the gas attendant. Thought that would break her but it didn't. Feel sorry for Jory."

DECENT CHAP
"He looks like a fairly decent chap who, if I hadn't got hold of him first and got his story and his alibi from him, would have turned chivalrous. Never can tell."

Howard said nothing. His eyes, though, left the smoke of the ceiling and turned to the window. He seemed to be interested in something outside on the street, but Wyman could see nothing out there that would attract anybody, except the traffic.

It wasn't the first time the Captain had met a novelist in his long career in the police department. He had met many of them. Most of them, he thought, great nuisances because they asked too many questions, expected too many answers and too many favors.

He had thought Julian Howard might be the same as most of the others when he had come in this morning with permission from the commissioner of police to stay the day.

Wyman knew of him, for Mrs. Wyman now and then had some of his books around, but Wyman had never read any of them and didn't intend to. He and his wife

Young King

To England amid much fanfare went youthful Leopold, king of the Belgians, to talk with King George and his ministers and seal his kingdom's friendship with Britain.

Mrs. Robinson Church Speaker

WINTERSBURG.—Mrs. Charles Robinson, Orange county conference secretary for Methodist young people, was speaker at the Sunday morning service at the Methodist church.

In the evening the pulpit was occupied by the pastor, the Rev. George Quayle, who spoke on "The Abundant Life."

FINAL RITES FOR ORANGE PIONEER

ORANGE.—Funeral services for D. E. Campbell were held Monday afternoon at the Presbyterian church, in which he had membership for many years. Mr. Campbell, one of Orange's best beloved pioneer citizens, died suddenly early Friday at the age of 82 years, at his South Cambridge street ranch home, where he had lived for 50 years.

He had acted as director of the Orange Building and Loan, the Orange Savings bank, the First National bank, the Y. M. C. A., the Santiago Orange Growers, the Central Lemon Association of Villa Park, Rotary club and chamber of commerce.

Dr. Robert B. McAulay, pastor of the church was assisted in conducting the service by the Rev. M. L. Pearson, pastor emeritus. Hundreds of floral pieces filled the church to overflowing. Mrs. Carl Pister and Mrs. Ethel Clark sang two duets, "Nearer My God to Thee

TREE CONTEST
SPONSORED

To arouse enthusiasm and beautify the city of Santa Ana during the Christmas holidays, the Edison Women's Committee is sponsoring plans for its fourth annual living Christmas tree contest. Prizes will be awarded to the entrants having the most effectively lighted, living Christmas trees. The Edison women entered into the spirit of Christmas cheer today, working to make Santa Ana the most brilliantly illuminated city in Orange county. Letters have been addressed to participants of previous years, asking that they again enter the contest and help to make it a successful event. It is hoped that many new applications will be received.

Residential trees under 12 feet will be judged in the first division, while those residential trees 12 feet or over will fall under the second division classification. First and second prizes will be awarded in each of the two divisions for the most beautiful and originally decorated, electrically lighted trees. The prizes, of equal beauty, will be announced and on display in the near future in the local Southern California Edison company window. Watch for them!

Any person within the city limits of Santa Ana, with the exception of Edison employees, is cordially invited to decorate a living Christmas tree in the local contest. Application for or information concerning entry may be obtained by telephoning Martha Johnston of the Edison company, telephone 46, or by calling at the office. All entries must be filed in the office before 6 o'clock December 22, after which time the trees will be judged and the winners announced. The judges will be chosen from the business men and women of Santa Ana, and will be announced soon.

Elizabeth Miller, chairman of the Edison Women's Committee, assisted by Martha Johnston, Thelma Jane Leonard, and Georgia Green, is directing the plans for the Christmas tree program.

Steals Stockings;
Gets Six Months

Ben Nichols, 45, Los Angeles, was sentenced to six months in Orange county jail today after pleading guilty to a petty theft charge before Justice of the Peace Kenneth E. Morrison.

Captured after a footrace through downtown Santa Ana streets Saturday night, Nichols pleaded guilty yesterday to stealing six pairs of hosiery from the J. C. Penney company store at Fourth and Bush streets.

Capistrano Water
Company Dissolved

Dissolution of the old Capistrano Mutual Water company was revealed today in papers filed with County Clerk B. J. Smith.

A. W. Rutan, president of the firm, signed the certificate which announced intention of shareholders to wind up and dissolve the firm.

POISON CASE

Mrs. K. Masunga, Stanton, was believed recovering in an Anaheim hospital from strychnine poisoning today, after what deputy sheriffs indicated was an attempted suicide last night. Mrs. Masunga assertedly took a small dose of strychnine while she was shopping in a Stanton store.

I JUST FOUND
OUT—Santa Ana's Taste
In Movie Shows

By MILLARD BROWNE

Educated by word-of-mouth publicity and catch-all sprays of comment from radio, newspapers and magazines, Santa Ana movie fans are enticed into local show-houses to see pictures—not stars—these days.

And if the picture happens to be well-done, modern, breezy, sophisticated comedy, the Santa Ana public will line up at the box-office in droves.

These are major trends in current movie tastes, theater managers observe. How long the modern comedy "cycle" will last, they won't guess. While it's here, though, it means big box-office business.

What with all the publicity mediums that stamp pictures themselves as good, bad or indifferent, the stars are definitely of secondary importance to movie fans. Each actor has his circle of admirers, but there are no universal favorites that bring out capacity crowds no matter what the story's like.

Biggest-drawing star still is Shirley Temple, who fills nearly any theater with a family audience (small children escorted by parents). Robert Taylor's name is enough to bring out a representative showing of high school, junior college and working girls, though a lot of the men think he's too "pretty," and usually go to Taylor shows only on dates, or because their wives insist.

Leading dramatic star for mature Santa Ana audiences is Paul Muni, mostly because of his academy award. Others who click in the local box-offices are Ronald Coleman, Leslie Howard, Spencer Tracy and Loretta Young.

Biggest factor in getting crowds for first-run pictures is the kind of publicity they get on the radio and in various publications. Second-run pictures click if the people who see it first time around liked it, rather than if the critics were impressed.

The modern comedy cycle has been going since "It Happened One Night," may last for several years, because it clicks better than ever. More recent trend is a slapstick flavor for sophisticated comedy, as in "Topper" and currently showing "The Awful Truth."

Always popular with Santa Anans—particularly the ones—are musicals, and local theaters invariably pull a big crowd with such teams as Astaire and Rogers, Burns and Allen, Nelson Eddy and Jeanette MacDonald (about to be separated). Bing Crosby films rival Astaire and Rogers for first place in the musical parade.

Who goes to the show? Theater managers here have them classified in four groups—the ones who see every show, regardless of quality; the ones who go on certain nights; those who turn out every once in a while when the show sounds attractive; and those who come only once a month or so because of a favorite star or much-ballyhooed epic.

About a third of the movie audience—or around a tenth of Santa Ana's total population—sees every show that plays the local theaters, unless they're sick or out of town. This group and the ones who go every Tuesday and Friday, just because it's Tuesday or Friday, and their night to go to the show, are the ones who pay the rent, managers claim.

It costs nearly $100 a year to see every show that plays Santa Ana, and many entire families do it. The $100, as a matter of fact, will cover virtually every show that's put out, because at least one of the five local theaters plays almost every one, since long-term contracts don't give much choice.

One Santa Ana family typifies movie fans' regularity: mother, father and five children go to the same theater every Sunday afternoon, regardless of what's showing, look like a good-sized audience as they wait in line for tickets.

Biggest crowd-drawers for the first-run houses are the road-shows, which usually are spectacular, well-done and keep the middle-class families standing by until they are brought down to popular prices. Theater managers estimate one family in every Santa Ana block sees a road-show while it's still playing in Los Angeles; word-of-mouth publicity naturally spreads to nearly everyone in town.

The second-run houses do their best business on a "sleeper," theater jargon for a supposedly mediocre show that happened to click. Producers don't know what they have until first-run audiences spread the good word, get their friends to go to the show next time around.

Show-house managers arrange feature programs a month ahead, but have their definite lineup only seven or eight days in advance. Films are sent to them with release dates, and they have little or no choice as to what movie they'll run.

That's one reason some old-time hits are revived: they give managers a chance to junk a third-rate new issue that wouldn't draw as well. Academy award pictures each year are fair game for revival, as are "memorial" pictures made by stars since deceased.

Comparatively few theatergoers pay much attention to who produced, directed, photographed or adapted a picture, managers find. Men occasionally comment on the photographer, women on the dress designer, and quite a number are impressed by Capra or Van Dyke direction, but none of these elements will bring out a crowd unless the picture or star are rated high.

To sum it all up, then, here's what the Santa Ana audience buys tickets to see:

Light comedy—Big crowds of adults, young and old.

Musicals—Nearly as big an audience, though mostly younger.

Favorite stars: Crosby, Astaire and Rogers.

Drama—Medium crowd, slightly older.

Romance—Women, couples on dates, and school students turn out.

Robert Taylor leads, while each of a dozen odd feminine stars are special favorites with some.

Adventure—Youngish, masculine audience.

Mystery—Mostly youngsters.

Movies of radio stars—Middle-aged and elderly patrons are best customers.

Business Brisk
In Traffic Court

Five speeding charges netted $64 in Santa Ana city court yesterday as motorists paid fines ranging from $8 to $25.

A drunk driving charge landed Richard Aguirre, Brea, in county jail for a 75-day sentence unless he raises $150 to pay a fine levied by Judge J. G. Mitchell.

Speeding fines: William C. Hudspeth, Huntington Park, (65 miles an hour in 45-mile zone), $25; Benson P. Miller, Bakersfield (55 miles in 25-mile zone), $15; Mary O. Macintosh, Santa Monica, $8; Shelley B. Horton, Santa Ana, $8; and Charles W. Townsend, Orange, $8.

30-Day Sentence
For Hit-Runner

John Bennett, Tustin, charged with hit-run Sunday when his car was involved in a no-injury accident at Main and Chestnut streets, changed his plea from not guilty to guilty in City Judge J. G. Mitchell's court yesterday.

He was fined $30 and given a 30-day suspended jail sentence on the charge that he failed to stop and render aid. The Tustin man assertedly had stopped suddenly and a car driven by Inez Hunter struck his car in the rear Sunday morning.

FOOTBALL
BE FETED

High tribute will be paid three winning Santa Ana football teams Thursday noon when the Lions, Kiwanis and Rotary clubs of this community will be in joint charge of a banquet in honor of the athletes at the Masonic temple. Football will be held shortly before noon with a parade from the high school to the banquet hall, followed by a talk by Bill Henry, well-known sports editor.

Honored guests at the affair will be members of the championship Santa Ana High school varsity squad, the high school sophomore aggregation, also champions, and the Santa Ana Junior college eleven, who have only one game between them and the league title.

The parade will be led by the high school band and the drill team, to be followed by approximately 160 boys, all members of the three teams, who will ride in cars. Line of march will start at the high school and will go down Main to Fifth and thence to the Masonic temple, according to John Henderson of the Lions club.

When the band and drill team arrive at the front of the temple, the two musical organizations will play a number of school songs.

Approximately 450 persons are expected to attend, John Henderson stated. Coaches of the three teams will be introduced, including H. S. "Bill" Foote, head man of the high school squad, and his assistant, Joe Googler; Coach A. J. "Bill" Cook and his assistant, Blanchard Beatty of the junior college eleven, and Coach Reese Green of the sophomore team leader.

General chairman for the occasion are the presidents of the three service clubs, Frank Harwood of the Lions, Frank McCoy of the Rotary and R. B. Newcom of the Kiwanis. Program chairmen include Lion Carl Stein, Rotarian Mac Robbins and Kiwanian William Tway.

D. A. V. Chapter
Meets Tomorrow

A semi-business and social meeting will be held tomorrow evening by Jack Fisher chapter, Disabled American Veterans of the World War, at the K. C. hall, starting at 8 o'clock, with David R. Day, commander, presiding.

Following the business session the chapter members will join with the women's auxiliary in a social hour to be featured by an entertainment program and luncheon. Mrs. Nora Bates, Los Angeles, auxiliary state commander, will be the honor guest of this occasion.

2 Charged With Check Passing

Two Santa Anans were held to answer to the superior court on felony charges of issuing fictitious checks.

Preliminary hearings for both defendants—Vernon D. Dickard and Aurelio Tirado—were held in local justice court yesterday, and bail for each was set at $1500.

Dickard was charged with issuing a fictitious $17.36 check to Harry Alpersen on Sept. 30, and Tirado was charged with cashing two fictitious checks at the famous department store on successive week-ends. The complaint against Tirado was signed by John Ortiz, assistant manager.

Farm Woman Goes
On Air Tomorrow

Accomplishments of extension workers and farm families in making homes convenient for growing children will be discussed over a National Broadcasting company hookup at 9:30 a. m. tomorrow, it was announced today.

Mrs. T. W. Henderson, Kentucky farm woman, will be the main speaker, followed by Mrs. Lydia Lynde, child development specialist, on the accomplishments of nationwide child development work.

Burglars Get $63
At Costa Mesa

Burglars who entered a house under construction at Costa Mesa Saturday made a $63 haul, deputy sheriffs indicated today after completing an inventory of stolen articles.

The house, located at Isobel and Santa Ana avenues, belongs to William Sibley and Edith H. Mandrey, who reported the burglary early Sunday. Entrance was gained by prying a window.

ANAHEIM MAN JAILED

Drunk driving charges today landed Edwin A. Leonard, 40, 209 North Lemon street, Anaheim, in the county jail here. He was arrested yesterday by Anaheim police.

SANTA and the WHITE FOX
by SIGRID ARNE

THE STORY SO FAR: Santa has made a doll from materials given him by the North Star. She says she wants to be called "Helga" and wants to go to sea.

Chapter Two
HELGA'S SONG

The very next day after Santa made Helga, the doll of the North, he had cause to worry about her. He was in the midst of finishing hundreds of toy pianos. He rushed about for three solid hours slipping all the little ivory keys into place, and as he finished each piano a very solemn gnome with ears as big as saucers sat down and played the scales, "Do, re, mi, fa, sol—" just to test the sound.

When all the pianos were finished, Santa sat down in the middle of the floor. He works very hard, but when he's through he loves to play, too. So now he shouted:

"Mrs. Santa, how about some of that hot cider with a stick of cinnamon in it?"

"Me, too," shouted all the dolls and fairies.

Santa had a great big glass of cider, and all the dolls and fairies had theirs in cups so small they looked like thimbles; that is, all of them but Helga. She just sat on a windowsill, looking silently out at the snow.

"Now," shouted Santa as he finished his cider. "Let's have a concert. Everybody to the pianos." Dolls and fairies and tin soldiers and toy dogs and monkeys scampered about finding pianos to play.

"What shall it be?" they asked Santa.

"Me-m," said Santa. "Sing the Good Fairy's song."

"Trill, tinkle, tinkle," went all the pianos. It sounded very fine, but not like our big pianos.

Then all the toyshop began to sing:

My carriage is a butterfly,
My meal the morning dew,
The hum of bees my lullaby,
The blue bell where I lie.
Ho, hum, life is a song,
If the days are short, the nights are long.

If the fire's too warm, the wind is cold,
So why should a person ever grow old?

Santa tapped out the time with his boot as the toys sang, but he kept his eye on Helga who only continued to stare out of the window.

"YOU MAKE US SAD"

"Helga," called Santa. "Didn't you like the song?"

"Not very much," said the doll. "Well, I never," said Santa.

"What sort of songs do you like?" Helga uncured from her perch, slid down a ribbon, that tied the curtain, and went to the piano.

She struck some chords and began to sing:

Morning may come, but it dies with the night,
Stars may shine, but they fade with the sun,
Songs may rise, and hearts be light,
But soon they are quiet, soon they are done.

When Helga finished, the toys looked pensive.

"Helga, Helga," said Santa. "You've made us sad, and dolls never do that. Tomorrow in playment you must teach us a game that will make us glad. Now, everybody, to bed."

Tomorrow: The Little Man.

TONIGHTCourt Clerk Will Discuss Tribunals

"Why Do We Have Courts?" will be the topic of an address by B. Grant Taylor, clerk of the California supreme court, this evening at 7:45 at the Unitarian church, Eighth and Bush streets, in another of the Citizens' Forum meetings.

Taylor spent the first 14 years of his life on a farm near Buffalo, N. Y., where his father was esteemed as a liberal, an advocate of prohibition, freedom for the negro, and a member of "The Society of Human Progress."

After a few years in the district school the son entered railroad service as a telegraph operator. Later he served the New York state hospital under civil service for a six-year period.

During a number of these years he was engaged in reading law and upon his transfer to California in 1899 Taylor started work in a San Jose law firm, was appointed to the bar in 1902, and shortly thereafter became a court reporter.

Since 1910 he has held the post of clerk in the California supreme court. He has four children all of whom were attending the University of California last year.

Taylor will be introduced this evening by Dr. Arthur Briggs, dean of the Metropolitan University College of Law at Los Angeles. Residents of Santa Ana will recall that both Taylor and Briggs were heard in this community last summer on the Institute of Liberal Religion. The public is cordially invited to attend this evening's program.

A meeting of the Citizens' forum committee is scheduled for Wednesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

SEE WORLD FROM MAIL BOX
Animals Travel Parcel Post

By GEORGE COVERDALE

Gold fish, alligators, horned toads and queen bees are some of the miscellaneous objects frequently handled by the United States postoffice in Santa Ana. Yet postal officials turn down their thumbs on setting hens.

Live day-old chicks, ducks and other domestic fowl are mailable provided they can reach their destinations within 72 hours after they are hatched. But federal postal laws bar the meek setting hen mainly because she's too old and perhaps just a bit too huffy.

Not long ago the postoffice here was in receipt of a box labelled "baby chicks." There was no noise coming from within and so assistant Postmaster Flake Smith decided to investigate. "When we opened the box we found a setting hen inside instead and promptly sent the package back to the owner."

As many as 50 queen bees have been brought into the postoffice at one time, L. F. Harvey, superintendent of mails said. "Each queen bee is in a container by herself with 15 or 20 attendants who are sent with her to provide food for their queen."

As many as 5000 baby chicks have gone through the local office in a single day's time.

During the game season shipments of packed ducks, geese, venison and even bear meat arrive through the mail here, Mr. Harvey affirmed. Live baby alligators, horned toads, lizards, newts, salamanders, lady bugs are a few of the live objects the local office receives.

All types of beneficial insects for horticultural and agricultural use are constantly handled. Serum for medical use, containing millions of bacteria come to the local postoffice heavily wrapped in absorbent material around which is placed non-breakable containers.

Objects with bad odors are barred from the mail by federal laws, yet the local office must accept all kinds of cheese including limburger and roquefort — "and some of it doesn't smell so nice," observes one postal employee.

That people are thoughtful about returning hotel keys which they happen to carry away from hotels is reflected in this city and other communities is reflected in the fact that 300 to 600 hotel keys arrive at the local office in a year's time.

According to Howard Youel, president of the association.

William T. Brown of the Frank Wiggins Trade school of Los Angeles is instructor. The course, he said, will be divided into units of 10 weeks or 20 hours of instruction, and is the same course required of all custodians in the Los Angeles school system.

Ruth Bryan Owen Is Speaker Featured By Ebell Club

With the assertion that "little kingdoms are now the nations that are keeping to the road of pure democracy when they face the cross-roads," Ruth Bryan Owen last night charmed and intrigued an appreciative audience in the auditorium of the Santa Ana Ebell clubhouse.

Attractively attired in a black gown which set off the silver hair so reminiscent of her father's beautiful locks, she wore a striking corsage of gardenias, the gift of the Santa Ana Ebell club which sponsored her appearance here.

Mrs. Owen (Mrs. Boerge Rohde) kept the attention of her listeners during the talk with her delightful low voice, and kept the entire audience chuckling with clever and appropriate witticisms. Eloquence was likewise vested in her slim tapering fingers which enthralled her audience with their graceful movements.

The speaker was graciously introduced by Mrs. W. S. Thompson, president of the local club, from a stage handsomely decorated with masses of red clematis berries. Bright colored autumn fruits on gay pomegranate leaves centered a huge table which served as a rostrum.

In discussing the cooperative movements, Mrs. Owen chose to title her lecture, "Democracy at Work in Denmark," first explaining her use of the term Democracy. Her first contact with the cooperatives, she indicated, was on a trailer tour through the country while serving as American minister to Denmark.

On her first visit to the cooperative farms, she was amazed by the cleanliness of the hog farms, then was informed that those conditions existed on all farms. Farmers explained that they discovered by banding together, establishing their own community slaughterhouses, they could eliminate much of the loss and impracticability of the middle man.

"Denmark became principally an animal raising country, when the large nations loaded the world's markets with wheat. And the creamery cooperative was developed when high tariffs resulted from the war with Austria," Mrs. Owen explained.

As a result of cooperation between the farmers, they can now employ scientists to help improve their farm lands, with increased profits for all. Now each farmer is not isolated on a small plot of ground, but is an active citizen, and a director of an insurance company, bank, and several small businesses.

"The man whose name appears continually throughout the history of the movement is Bishop Brundage. He deplored the lack of practical education for all and set out to form small non-compulsory study groups to discuss the problems of the day.

"This resulted in an understanding of government and economics unknown in other countries, and the groups sent working men to face parliament. Now the cooperatives in every branch of business has disposed to a great extent of the natural fears of people for unemployment, sickness and loss of earning power," the speaker declared.

Mrs. Owen pointed out that the form of health insurance established in Denmark has benefited both patients and doctors since all the public could get the treatment needed at a reasonable cost. Old-age insurance, too, has made it possible for elderly couples to obtain money to bring their incomes up to the sustaining wage and live comfortably, not on charity.

"The people of Denmark have worked out their problems with vision and accuracy, as they realize this is the only way they can survive. Now they are looking toward the time when the world will have organizations to prevent warfare, and nations can cooperate with democracy for all," the brilliant diplomat concluded her lecture.

WRIGHTS HOME FROM MEXICO

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Wright of 2320 Riverside Drive returned Sunday evening from a month's stay in Mexico, where they drove four weeks ago. They made their headquarters in a private home on Chapultepec Heights in the suburbs of Mexico City, where they had a splendid view of the snow-covered volcanoes.

The Wrights were widely feted in a social way in addition to their round of sightseeing. One of the highlights of their trip was an expedition to locate the first Furte avocado tree, on behalf of the California Avocado Growers' association. It was found by Mr. Wright in Atlixo, and will ultimately be marked by the California group.

LAS VEGAS NUPTIALS TOLD

Announcement was made today of the marriage of Mrs. Marie Lewis and Louis C. Knox at Las Vegas, Nov. 6. They were attended by the groom's brother and sister-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. Stewart Knox of Los Angeles.

They are residing at 1107 North Bush street. Set is proprietor of a South Main street beauty shop, and he is local representative of the Brunswick Drug company.

WOMEN'S UNION
Women's Union of the First Congregational church will meet tomorrow at 2 p. m. at the church bungalow. There will be an election of officers.

GIDDY NEW DESIGNS

Nines and fours marching in square formation make the white and red plaid which patterns a blue washable play dress for one of the younger members of the family. Red airplanes and airmail letters pepper the other play frock which is trimmed in white pique edged with braid. The printed designs of both children's dresses were evolved by children.

Your Baby Book

By EDNA WILSON

November and December always seem to be pretty good months for the young ones. (As I've always called them) are getting their parties just the same this year. It seems a shame to me that some kiddies must celebrate their natal days and Santa Claus day all at the same time. Nevertheless, today we find a long list of merry little parties on our list.

Just the same, my advice to little Ray Harry Edwards, who arrived on the middle stroke of 12 last week-end, is to urge his mom and dad, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Edwards, to make Saturday his birthday. You probably remember that Ray Harry's parents just can't get over the fact that their son was born Nov. 27 or 28, because he made his appearance exactly at 12. If you must know the reason for my opinion, it's this:

The farther away from Christmas it is, the more chance Ray Harry has of getting more presents and more parties! Or am I wrong?

Another youngster in the news this week is Master Stephen Dale Peters of Los Angeles. He visited with his great-grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George B. Peters, on Sunday and was very much the guest of honor for the dinner in the afternoon. Stephen Dale's eyes are blue, his hair a dark brown. All his relatives insist that he's a perfect child, both as to looks and disposition.

He was born in Los Angeles and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Peters. And we might remind you that Stephen Dale, the first kiddie of the family, now completes a cousin in his great-grandmother, Mrs. George B. Peters, of Santa Ana, his grandmother is Mrs. Beulah Peters of Los Angeles.

Exciting adventures for our young ones are really in the air right now! We've just heard that Jimmy and Suzanne with their mother and dad (the Cassius Pauls) went to Palm Springs on Friday and didn't return until late last evening. But more exciting than anything else—their cousin the Felton Brownings' trailer for the trip.

One of our very best ways to get acquainted with lots of the local kiddies is through these happy little parties so many of the tots have. For instance, there was little Nancy Sue Howard's seventh anniversary on Nov. 20. She was a mighty happy youngster all day long, and when she got ready for bed that night, she looked at her mama with shining blue eyes, and exclaimed, "Oh, mom! I shall be happy now as long as I live!" We gather that Nancy Sue rather enjoyed her party.

Nancy Sue is the youngest of the three Ed Howard girls. She's 7, and then there's Joanne, who's 6, and Elaine, a very grown up girl of 13. Joanne is a striking brunette, and Elaine is a curly headed blonde. But Nancy Sue is not to be outdone with her cunning straight blonde hair cut in a Dutch bob. They play together a lot, and Nancy Sue will join in the fun with anyone and everyone.

To finish telling you about Nancy Sue—she's in the second grade at Hoover school, and is small for her age. She wears blue most of the time, and (clever young lady) designs and makes all her dollies' clothes. And, on top of everything else, she's crazy about school!

It's just about time that we reminded you of the gala and glamorous play that most of the young ladies and gentlemen of Santa Ana are just wild to see. It'll be given by the Junior Ebbelles in the Ebell clubhouse next Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Tots between the ages of 4 and 12 will find it es-

Mothers Are Small Artist To Study Dances With Babies

Planning to devote their entire year to the study of training for mothercraft, members of the newly-organized Child Conservation League had an interesting session last night at the Holly Lash Visel studio, with Mrs. Reine Chew presiding. They will consider first children of pre-school age.

Mrs. Jasper Farney presented the outline of the session topics, which will be launched at the group's next meeting, Dec. 13, at the same place, when Dr. Stella Davis talks on "Our Babies."

Present for the meeting were Mrs. Davis, and the Mesdames Lawrence Bond, J. B. Price, Allison Inger, R. C. Echols, Carson Smith, Nelson Visel, J. Leslie Stephenson, Earl Frevert, Reine Chew, Alvin Rohrs, Earl M. Newbern, John E. State, Jasper Anarney, Winifred Hall, George Holmes, Jean Sheedy, Charles Coutts, J. I. Vernig, C. M. Gilbert, Martin Full, Thomas G. Clark, and H. J. Mortenson.

PRIMARY GROUP CHANGES NAME AT STATE MEET

Changing the name of the California Kindergarten-Primary Association to the California Association of Childhood Education was one of the principal moves of the 14th annual state convention of that body held Friday and Saturday at Pasadena, with Glendale and Alhambra sharing in hostess duties.

According to five Orange county delegates, the change resulted from the group's hope of bringing other organizations interested in its program of child understanding and parent education into its boundaries, not necessarily limited to the two primary grades.

Attending from Orange county were Esther Funk of Huntington Beach, president of the county group; Martha Wilcox of Santa Ana, Martha Hiltner of La Habra, Mabel Dixon of Santa Ana, and Margaret Bolte of Santa Ana.

The convocation was held for the most part at Vista del Arroyo hotel, although one session of great interest was held at Broadacres Kindergarten school. Many interesting symposiums were conducted in addition to the speeches of visiting lecturers.

Miss Esther Aase of San Francisco was elected state president to replace Mrs. Joseph Ohagan of Los Angeles.

METHODIST WOMEN TO HAVE BAZAR

Joining for the annual event, Associated Women of the First Methodist Episcopal church will sponsor a bazar and dinner in the church building, Friday, Dec. 3.

The bazar will continue from 1 until 9 p. m., while the dinner will be served from 5 until 7 p. m. Booths vending aprons, needlework, cooked foods, and other items will be open throughout the time. Special features will include a quilt display and a children's room where youngsters will be entertained while their parents are at the affair.

MESSIAH GROUP
Mrs. George Euphrat of Covina, superintendent of the Episcopal children's home there, will be speaker at a meeting of the Church of the Messiah women's auxiliary tomorrow at 2 p. m. in the parish hall. There will be election of officers, and Mrs. James Hird will serve refreshments.

time. Sally isn't very friendly until she gets acquainted, and she prefers to make her own advances. Big brother Bobby, 10, is Sally's idol, and most of her playtime is spent with a gang of Bobby's boy friends. There's also Joanne, 14, in the family too. Sally goes to Sunday school every week, and is wild about it; she's also anxious to start school. During the day, Sally rides her trike or plays with "Polly" the big pit bulldog of the family. And Evonne, one of the famous quints, is her favorite dolly.

The last two for our Baby Book this week are Loran Danny Spencer, not junior, and Sharon Marie Spencer. They're the charming children of the L. D. Spencers, and their fond mama is president of the Spurgeon P-T-A. too.

Little Danny will be 4 years old on Dec. 12. He has blonde curly hair, big blue eyes. His weight is about average, and he has talked ever since he could sit up. But he's never talked baby talk, so he's never quite seemed like a baby to Mrs. Spencer. Danny's best pal is brown-eyed Charles Ray, just three days younger than Danny.

Sharon Marie will be 8 on Jan. 18, and is more of a blonde than Danny. Her eyes are blue, and her light brown hair is naturally curly. She's in the third grade at Spurgeon, and spends most of her time reading.

Favorite playmate in the Spencer household is "Tippy," a 12-year-old doggy with spencers, and four white feet. Danny and Sharon are very much flattered to think they saved Tippy's life, but no one is sure, whether they did, or if it was just an act for their benefit. It seems that Tippy had been crippled by a bear trap and refused to go out to round up the cattle up on the Montana ranch where the youngsters vacationed. Their uncle threatened to shoot Tippy, and it was only the pleas and tears of the Spencer kiddies that saved him. But in any case, Danny and Sharon have a very fine doggie now.

So I think we'd better end this session of the Book. Our advice to the two sick lads is cherub, everything will soon be all right.

Small Artist Dances With Yule Play

Youngsters of from four to twelve years will not only be entertained with a playlet of fairy-story significance and costuming next Saturday afternoon at the Ebell club, but will witness a delightful exhibition of dancing and music as well.

The program, originated and presented by the Junior Ebell First Book Revision, and will feature Spanish, Mexican, and fan dances performed by little Zoe Ann Willy, six-year-old child prodigy of Hollywood, whose chaste execution and terseness of movement are vouchsafed as truly remarkable by the Putnam School of Dancing, through whose offices she has been persuaded to appear here.

The diminutive performer will be accompanied by Amy Buell of Santa Ana, whose daughter Lorle will do an eccentric comedy dance as "Raggy Ann," before the actual play, "A Christmas Dream," is presented with its Junior Ebell cast, including Mrs. Crawford Nalle, Mrs. Robert Guld, Mrs. Claude Brakebill, Mrs. Burt Zaiser, Mrs. Glenn Mathis, Mrs. George Walker, Mrs. Thoburn White, Mrs. Raymond Terry, Mrs. Ray Tarr, Mrs. James Workman, Mrs. John Scripps, Mrs. Harold Dale, and Mrs. Fred Burlew.

Mrs. Fred Burlew is in charge of costumes, Mrs. Chester Horton is in charge of properties, and Mrs. L. L. Beeman is directing the performance.

PETERS FETE FAMILY GROUP AT DINNER

Five generations were well represented on Sunday afternoon when Mr. and Mrs. George E. Peters were host and hostess to an intimate family group in their home, 110 West First street, for a delightful dinner party.

For the event, the home and table were attractively decorated with arrangements of autumn flowers in orange and brown shades. The group was especially interested in watching young Stephen Dale Peters, eight-weeks-old youngster. Those completing the five-generation list were Mrs. Sue Spencer, great great grandmother; George E. Peters, great grandfather; Mrs. Beulah Peters, grandmother; and Mrs. Edwin Peters, father and mother.

Present for the affair were Miss Leora Snodgrass and Monty Clifton of Long Beach, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Peters, Mrs. Beulah Peters, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Gavelson, Mr. and Mrs. M. Lockwood, and Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Haves, all of Los Angeles, and Mr. and Mrs. George Peters, and Mrs. Sue Spencer of Santa Ana. Mrs. Larry Golden assisted in the afternoon's activities.

DEBUTANTES HONOR FORMER SCHOOLMATE

Miss Betty Reade and Miss Katherine Budd were co-hostesses Sunday afternoon at a charming luncheon given in honor of Miss Charlotte Stewart of Los Angeles, a former Santa Ana, and a schoolmate of the group invited.

The enjoyable affair was given in the Reade home at 1024 Kilson drive, decorated with lovely autumn flowers and tiny squirrels at each place.

Miss Stewart is marrying an Iowa man in the spring, and will go there to make her home, so the hostess presented her with a handsome traveling bag, in which were various other gifts from other guests present.

Guests of Miss Reade and Miss Budd were Miss Anne Detwiler, Miss Helen Wieseman, Miss Florence Ulrich, Mrs. Duane Smith, Mrs. Ray Walworth, Mrs. Carl Doss, Mrs. Ralph Gordon, and Mrs. Ray Gardell.

SLABAUGHS HAVE HOUSEGUESTS

Dr. and Mrs. F. W. Slabaugh, 407 West Santa Clara street, have had as houseguest for a week Mrs. Herman Stearns of Walla Walla, Wash. During her visit, Mrs. Earl P. Holsington of Beverly Hills gave a dinner in her honor, with Mrs. and Mrs. Russell Reagan and son Ronny of Palm Springs completing the party.

The past week-end, the Slabaughs had as additional houseguests Mr. and Mrs. George Gillespie and son Claude of Omaha, Neb., wintering in Los Angeles.

RETURN FROM VACATION TRIP

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lambros, 207 East First street, with their children, Katherine and Georgia, returned recently from a month's vacation at a camp near Idyllwild, at Yosemite, and San Francisco.

To complete their round of activities, the family spent the Thanksgiving holiday as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Gallen of San Bernardino.

HOUSE PARTY IS ENTERTAINED

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Deardoff entertained the house party of Wednesday to Friday of last week at their Idyllwild home.

Their guests were Mr. and Mrs. Gene Thomas, Barbara Jean and Shirley Ann Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. John Gould, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Gould, Mrs. Irene Willey, and Glenna Jean Deardoff.

This Reader Would Like to Aid 'Teen Age People in Avoiding Divorce

We've heard of many splendid and unusual hobbies through this department from time to time. But one of the finest, we think, is the one a reader tells us about today.

Human relations and their adjustment interests her keenly and in the following letter she describes her plan for turning her hobby to good use: Dear Miss Stoddard: This is my first letter to you, but I have closely followed your column and realize how deeply you feel about the problems of your readers, and the great good that results from these discussions.

Human relations and their adjustment have always interested me to the point of being a hobby. Today's broadened views, uncontrolled emotions (probably, should say uncontrolled emotions), shrewdness of speech, uncovered pruderies, seem to have had a tendency to widen the breach between parents and their 'teen-age children. Especially does this seem to be true among the foreign-born parents.

The 'teen-agers are our greatest asset. They are the mothers and fathers of our future leaders; on them depends our country's future. The best guidance that we have to offer from our past experiences and the knowledge now at our disposal, examples of all those whose lives are devoted to this cause, is small enough—God knows—but little by little, step by step, we can mold their ideals into realities, and straighten out the rough and crooked paths they see ahead.

Divorce today is fluctuating toward the peak of marriage in some localities. This situation has not passed through the 'teen-agers' mind without an impression—it has left its dent, and that dent is a pile up against marriage. A happy mated life is the natural goal of every boy and girl, and this desire brings forth the best of everything in their natures.

This impressionable age makes more vital their problems now than those of three or four years hence when knowledge and experience have broadened the mental horizon. At this age their problems stand out like giants in the young forest of their thoughts and desires.

Two of these 'teen-agers, happily based on a sound foundation. We may be traveling a long road, but we're aiding a worthwhile cause of youth. How do these 'teen-agers feel about a nucleus relations bureau of understanding?

Do they think it would aid them to a better understanding of their problems—thrashing it out under normal conditions unemotionally and in confidence? If one out of 10 applicants was suited to a happier relationship in home or school, college or business, would it not pay big dividends?

I've seen two generations grow to manhood and womanhood, and throughout those years there has always been this vital problem of a "teen-age, misunderstood." They need our best, and I stand ready to help. Sincerely,

A HUMAN BEING.

Dear Thelma—Since your fur coat is fitted I would by all means keep it full length. Such coats usually lose their smartness when shortened. It is the wide-shouldered and straight-hanging coats which can be converted into the short boxy silhouette with such success. And another most important thing: The full-length coat adds to your height and helps create slenderness of effect. M. H.

Dear Miss G. M.—Sandals have been so enticingly feminine and different that women are loathe to part with them—and California weather being what it is, they have not gone out. And for indoors wear such as dressy afternoon and evening, they are still very much in evidence. I just would not wear them upon the streets on other than sunny days.

Address all inquiries to Mary Stoddard in care of this paper. All letters not answered in the column will be answered personally, providing a fully addressed envelope with three cent stamp is enclosed.

PARTY SERIES TO PRECEDE LEGION DANCE

Intimate little parties that are open to the public, and which will merge later in the evening into a general dance, are being planned as benefits for their Christmas welfare work by the American Legion auxiliary on Dec. 13. It was announced today by Mrs. Earl Lepper, general chairman of the affair.

Members who have thus far opened their homes for the early bridge and five hundred games are Mrs. Charles Leimer, Mrs. S. D. Duckett, Mrs. Harold Brown, Mrs. Franklin West, Mrs. Ernest Voss, Mrs. Lou Blodgett, Mrs. William Penn, Mrs. Robert Sandon, and Mrs. John Turpin. Mrs. Eugene Robinson and Miss Louise Tubbs will entertain together in the home of the former, and Mrs. Harry Edwards and Mrs. Harry Pickard will also join as hostesses.

Mrs. and Mrs. Arthur Eklund will be host and hostess at a party the same night in the lobby of Veterans' hall, where all parties will later merge for the dance. Reservations may be made by calling Mrs. Lepper at 1845-W, or Mrs. Ralph Mitchell at 847.

FLANAGANS ARE DINNER HOSTS

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Flanagan were recent hosts at a family dinner honoring the latter's mother, Mrs. Charles Koegler of New York, a guest in the home at 1019 Cypress avenue.

Flame-colored chrysanthemums centered the table around which gathered Mrs. Mary Flanagan, Miss Ann Flanagan, Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Flanagan, Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Flanagan and two children, Bernard Flanagan and a grandson, and the four young people of the home.

Happy Birthday

Today The Journal congratulates the following on the anniversary of their birthdays: MRS. O. V. BARTON, 501 East Chestnut street.

And for yesterday to: TOMMY HALL, Heliotrope Drive.

Vegetable Dishes Are Substantial

By JUDITH WILSON

Here are the recipes for some interesting and substantial vegetable dishes. We're sure you will like them.

Cauliflower With Cheese
½ pound soft American cheese
2 tablespoons butter
¼ cup dry bread crumbs
1 cup milk
1 head cauliflower, cooked until tender in salted water

Melt the cheese in the upper part of a double boiler, add the milk slowly, stirring until blended. Add a dash of pepper and salt to taste. In another small saucepan melt the butter, add the crumbs and stir until light brown and crisp. Arrange the cauliflower on a serving dish and pour the cheese sauce over it, then sprinkle with the browned crumbs. Serve at once.

Beef and Eggplant
1 pound chopped beef
2 slices bacon
1 small onion
1 teaspoon salt
1 medium-sized eggplant
¼ cup butter or drippings
2 cups canned or stewed tomatoes

Pepper to taste
Peel and cut the eggplant into 1-inch cubes. Brown in the fat. In another pan fry the bacon, cut into small bits, and the chopped onion and cook until the onion is tender, but not brown. Add the meat and cook, stirring constantly until light brown. Arrange alternate layers of eggplant and beef in a casserole, having the top layer of meat. Sprinkle with salt and pepper, pour in the tomatoes and bake in a moderate oven 40 minutes. A beef kidney, cut into small dice, scalded in boiling water for a few minutes, then drained and sautéed in the bacon drippings might be substituted for the chopped beef. The eggplant and kidney is a delicious combination.

JACK GRANGER WEDS NORTHERN GIRL

Formal announcement was received today of the wedding Saturday in Portland, Oregon, of Miss Mary Banks to John Huehn (Jack) Granger.

The bride is a former Santa Ana high school graduate, who attended here and at Laguna Beach. Her mother now resides in Ontario, as does her sister Olive, Mrs. Hal Harlow.

Miss Banks is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Banks of North Bend, Oregon. Her father is a prominent lumberman of Coos Bay, and both she and Mr. Granger have attended the University of Oregon, where she was affiliated with Alpha Phi sorority, and he was a Theta Chi. She was a summer visitor last year at Laguna.

PREVIEW WILL SHOW TONIGHT

A major studio preview will be staged at the Broadway theater tonight, it was announced today by Manager George King. The preview will be screened both once, and will go on promptly at 8:40 p. m.

At the same time, King announced that an unexpected change in program plans brings a close to the current program at the Broadway theater. The featured attraction ending tonight is "It's Love I'm After," co-starring two of film-drama's most popular players, Bette Davis and Leslie Howard.

"It's Love I'm After" affords both Miss Davis and Howard their first opportunity to play a romantic comedy role together. Howard plays a matinee idol who makes all the feminine hearts on Broadway flutter. Miss Davis is in love with him. Olivia DeHavilland is a wealthy heiress who falls in love with Howard.

The second feature is "Murder in Greenwich Village," a film which is riotously funny one moment and grimly dramatic another. Leads are Richard Arlen and Fay Wray.

Tomorrow the Broadway will show "Ebb Tide," South Seas adventure film in Technicolor featuring Ray Milland and Frances Farmer, and "The Octopus" starring Hugh Herbert in his funniest comedy.

'AWFUL TRUTH' HELD OVER

Because of the great popularity of the picture, "The Awful Truth" has been held over to show for an extra day at the West Coast theater, it was announced today by Manager George King. The romantic comedy starring Irene Dunne and Cary Grant will not close until tomorrow night, King said.

"The Awful Truth," the funniest and wittiest romantic comedy which has shown here for a year or more, tells of the marital difficulties of "Mrs." Irene Dunne and "Mr." Cary Grant. The final tiff leads to the divorce courts and to a hilarious courtroom scene.

The second feature on the program is "Wallaby Jim of the Islands," presenting George Houston as the fighting, singing skipper of a pearl-fishing brig who battles a cut-throat gang to retain the rich pearl beds he has discovered. Ruth Coleman and Mamie Clark have leading roles.

POSTPONE BAZAR

Torosa Rebekah sewing circle will have an all day meeting Thursday at the home of Mrs. E. C. Kuhl, 606 Garfield street, with members bringing their own table service. The group's bazar has been postponed a week and will be held Dec. 11 at 407 West Fourth street.

About Folks

C. A. Samuelson of Chariton, Iowa, arrived Thanksgiving day to spend the winter months with his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. N. Carleton Smith, 516 W. Fifth street.

Mr. and Mrs. Franklin West and Mrs. Edward Hall spent the weekend in San Diego.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Sorenson, Walter, Jr., and Harold, returned yesterday from a Thanksgiving holiday trip to Boulder Dam, Zion National park, Bryce Canyon, and Death Valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Milan Miller have returned from a Thanksgiving trip to Sacramento where they visited Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon Russell, who formerly lived in Santa Ana. Russell is statistical superintendent for the state reemployment service.

The young son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Elliott (Betty Paul) of 919 Minter street, born Nov. 21 at Santa Ana Valley hospital, has been named John Michael. He is the grandson of Mrs. Edith L. Paul and the late W. H. Paul.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Wood, accompanied by their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Vern Lauer enjoyed Sunday on the desert in the vicinity of Banning and Palm Springs. Mr. and Mrs. Lauer returned to their home in Redwood City following the trip.

George E. Good of Gary, Ind., returned to the University of Arizona where he is a student last night after spending the Thanksgiving holidays with his cousins, Mrs. Charles Russell and Mrs. John J. Vernon of Santa Ana. The families were joined for Thanksgiving dinner by Good's sister and family, Mrs. M. C. Cavan of San Diego.

Dr. and Mrs. D. J. Celand and Don spent the week-end in Palm Springs with Dr. and Mrs. C. C. Celand.

Mrs. J. B. Roberts returned Sunday to her home at 202 East Ninth street after spending the holiday week with Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Roberts of Los Angeles.

Orin Griffen, 825 North Parton street, was joined by his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Griffen, and Mrs. Margaret Church in a recent visit to the home of his sister, Mrs. Floyd Bonter of San Dimas.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Thompson and son, Carson, of Hollywood were recent visitors of Mrs. William Smart and Miss Mary Smart. The quietest dinner to date was given over the week-end to dine with the William Smart, Jr., and later drove to visit Mr. and Mrs. James Young (Fannie Smart) in San Diego.

KVOE

Notes of interest for the local audience. These program notes are in addition to the Mutual Network features over KVOE commented on above in Tom E. Danson's column.

Remember The Journal broadcast: News every day at 8:30 a. m.; 12:30, 4:30, 9:00 p. m.; Chat with Betty—Tuesday, Thursday and Friday, 11:30 a. m.

Like a little of the eerie and fantastic once in a while? If you do you'll enjoy "Witches Tales" on KVOE tonight at 7:30. This coast to coast feature has entertained listeners for a number of years. Listeners who enjoy real entertainment and who do not take these stories too seriously.

Guest-starred on tonight's Musical Revue, KVOE 8:45, will be two great singers, Josephine Antoine, Metropolitan opera favorite and Howard Price, star of the air lanes, will sing "I'll Follow My Secret Heart" and "The First Time I Saw You." Vic Arden's 34-piece orchestra, the Four Song-Smiths and Graham McNamee will add their talents to this fast-moving musical show.

Say, here's a corkin' good program... yours truly listened intently last week, and guessed a few of the hidden tunes. Shucks, if I had only been there, those prizes offered for correct answers would have found their way into my empty wallet. "Tunetwisters," with Buddy Rogers as master of ceremonies and music director, will offer KVOE-Don Lee dialers another program of rhythmic riddles and entertainment, on the broadcast tonight at 8 o'clock. Prizes will be offered the studio audience for correct solutions to the musical puzzles which conceal one popular tune in the arrangement of another.

"How to Skin Friends and Influential People" will form the theme of Ed Lowry's "Singtime" program tonight at 7 o'clock on KVOE. Elaine Arden and "Brother Louie" join Lowry to complete a domestic triangle for a comic sketch in which Lowry finds it would have been well for him to have read Dale Carnegie's popular book of advice.

Van C. Newkirk, producer of public events program for the Don Lee network, announces that installation of permanent telephone lines for remote control broadcasting at the foot of the Los Angeles "moving mountain" in Elysian park has been completed. The remote set-up, situated at the base of the bluff, and directly in the path of the slipping earth, will bring last minute reports to KVOE listeners on prevailing conditions, with Newkirk stationed on 24-hour duty to relay the latest news on this geological phenomenon.

C. J. Brower, director of the La Habra Tuberculosis association, will have for his topic "Yesterday and Today" when he speaks on KVOE tomorrow afternoon at 12:15 during the regular County Tuberculosis and Health association broadcast.

BOY SINGER PIC FEATURE

Beautiful lake-studded Maine woods is the setting for opening sequences of Bobby Breen's latest musical starring vehicle, "Make a Wish," the principal production at the State theater Wednesday and Thursday which also headline Basil Rathbone and Marion Claire in the order named.

For three weeks during the filming of the story, Director Kurt Neumann worked "on location" at the famous Malibu lake in California with a remarkable cast including 160 youngsters who were seen as Bobby's companions at a boys' summer camp. Theatergoers will find in this picture have an opportunity to see a "new" Basil Rathbone, since he essays the first truly romantic role in his career on the screen.

Glorious music, punctuated by one of the oldest detective mysteries ever written into fiction—the murder of a tenor before 20,000 people in the famous Hollywood Bowl—these are the highlights of the screen's first operative detective story, "Moonlight Murder," an added attraction on Wednesday and Thursday.

The latest edition of March of Time will serve as the newsreel at this show.

Swing Song Girl Tonight

By TOM E. DANSON

Martha Tilton, pictured below, whose rhythmic vocal interpretations keep pace with the intricate interpretations of Benny Goodman's orchestra during the "Caravan" program which also presents

"Jack Oakie's College." This program is heard over the KXN-Columbia network, tonight from 6:30 to 7:30. Miss Tilton was discovered by Goodman, when, after a radio career in her native St. Louis, she went to Hollywood and joined the "Oakie College" glee club.

Adventuring on a world identical to earth but 50 years ahead in scientific achievement, trapped by a mad man with medical power to restore life to the dead and use them as his subjects, fighting for life in spite of being on a world wherein all lethal weapons have been outlawed. That's what characters are doing in the amazing story of Dick Jordan, soldier of fortune, heard over KFOK, every Monday through Friday at 6:45-7 p. m.

When the usual Tuesday night Olympic fights take the air tonight at 9:50 over KEHE, announcer Reid Kilpatrick will bring to fight fans a blow by blow description of the pugilistic encounter, involving "Wild Bill" Boyd, navy heavyweight champion, and J. D. Turner, six foot four giant from Texas. On the same card, Art Johnson, colored middleweight, meets Marvin Birch in a six-rounder.

A rollicking comedy by Donald Pipe, well known British playwright, and adapted for radio by John Boylan, will be presented over KECA tonight at 9 o'clock, as the main attraction for "Preview Tonight." The half hour drama is built along the lines of a genuine motion picture. Lap dissolves, close-ups, sound effects, and audience reaction are included in the novel production. The title for this week's "Preview," is "Double Honeymoon," a mad story of two eccentric youngsters who find the road to romance a rocky one. Their adventures are as screwy as those of the Kirby's in the motion picture, "Topper."

Motorists are inclined to cuss truck drivers, simply because they're truck drivers; "Shouldn't be allowed on the highway," is the common retort. But the truck driver has another viewpoint to consider, and this evening at 5:45 p. m. over KFI, "The Voice of Motorodom" will permit him to speak his mind. This should be an interesting interview, as truck-driver cussing, is quite a common practice. Yowshah!!

The famed slogan of the French police, "cherchez la femme," was reversed in "The Case of the Flat-Nosed Pliers," the dramatization offered by "Calling All Cars" over KXN and stations of the Columbia Pacific network from 7:30 to 8 p. m. tonight. In this instance the "la femme" involved, lost no time in searching out the police. Two eccentric youngsters who find the road to romance a rocky one. Their adventures are as screwy as those of the Kirby's in the motion picture, "Topper."

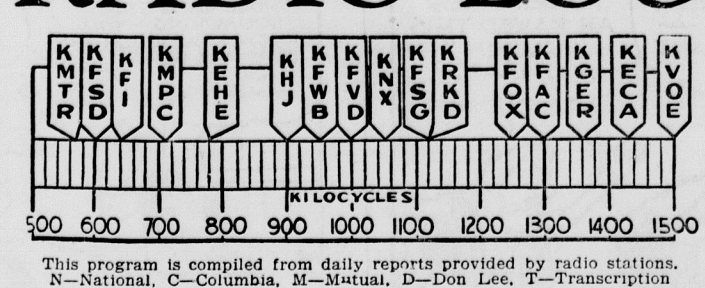

So unusual is the story to be dramatized in tonight's broadcast of "Money Talks" from KVOE at 9:15, that no fiction writer would commit it to paper; yet every detail is true-to-fact. Just what happens when a counterfeit bill is handed a bank teller? Is the riot called? Is there excitement? Who stands the loss represented by a fake bill? Surprising answers to these questions will be told during the interesting and informative true-story drama tonight, the 9th of the series.

Missing Lobster Fisherman Rescued at Sea

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—Adrift for 24 hours in a small skiff 12 miles off Santa Barbara Island, J. Swanson, lobster fisherman, was rescued today by the navy mine sweeper Algoma.

The Algoma was returning Swanson to San Pedro for hospitalization. A dense fog enveloped Swanson's tiny craft after he left his friends on his lobster boat. The visitor, and started away in the skiff.

Major Bowes' Unit at Walker's

Three dancing dolls will be one of the highlights of the "Jamboree of 1937" appearing at Walker's theater Wednesday and Thursday as an outstanding unit under the direction of Major Bowes. Due to reports of holdovers by theaters throughout the country the theater will present this revue for two days to allow all to see their favorites of the air in person. On the screen will be two features, "On Again, Off Again" and "Killers of the Sea."

Hollywood Sights, Sounds

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD.—Latest Cinderella to go into a preview theater unrecognized and come out giving autographs is Marjorie Weaver from Louisville, Ky. . . . Marjorie's first featured role—in "Second Honeymoon"—all but stole the show from Tyrone Power and Loretta Young. . . . So 20th Century canceled her proposed personal appearance at Louisville and stuck her instead into one of three leading roles in "Sally, Irene and Mary." . . . As Marjorie Weaver has to dance, and the other day she was practicing energetically with Geneva Sawyer, the pretty ex-chorine who teaches steps. . . . She looked like an apt pupil, too, especially for a girl who once insisted she couldn't dance. . . . And that's the point. When Marjorie got a stock contract she saw how many girls like her were used in the chorus lines and forever overlooked. . . . So she was so sure she couldn't dance that Twentieth had to give her a few breaks in the acting line, just to get its money's worth. . . . And this Weaver girl won a beauty contest, too!

MRS. ALLEN'S MOVIE-SHY
Fred Allen threatens Ned Sparks' place as foremost-faced of movie comedians. . . . But Fred isn't too interested in pictures. . . . Says he has "a rather profitable sideline in something called radio" which takes up too much of his time, writing and rehearsing, to do justice to movies, too. . . . Mrs. Allen (Portland Hoffa) isn't appearing in Fred's picture, after all. Decided she wouldn't photograph like Portland Hoffa of the air. . . .

ESCAPE ARTIST ...

In the year 1898 a young lad of 19 was expelled from the theological seminary at Tiflis because of certain radical affiliations. For the next 20 years this lad ambitiously pursued a career of revolutionary agitator, organizer and pamphleteer.

Josef Vissarionovitch Stalin, Russian communist leader, in those 20 years was exiled from his native Russia no less than six different times and perpetuated no less than five different escapes!

In 1904 he made his first escape from Eastern Siberia, where, in 1903, he had been exiled for a three-year period. Frequently changing his pseudonym, he evaded arrest until 1908, when he was again exiled to Volodga province for another three years. But in 1908—one year later—he slipped away.

He was speedily arrested and shipped to Solvichegodsk for a six-year term of exile, but inside of a year he escaped to St. Petersburg, only to be arrested again after a few months of freedom and sent back to Volodga. Stalin escaped, was again exiled in April, 1912 and was once more in St. Petersburg by the following September!

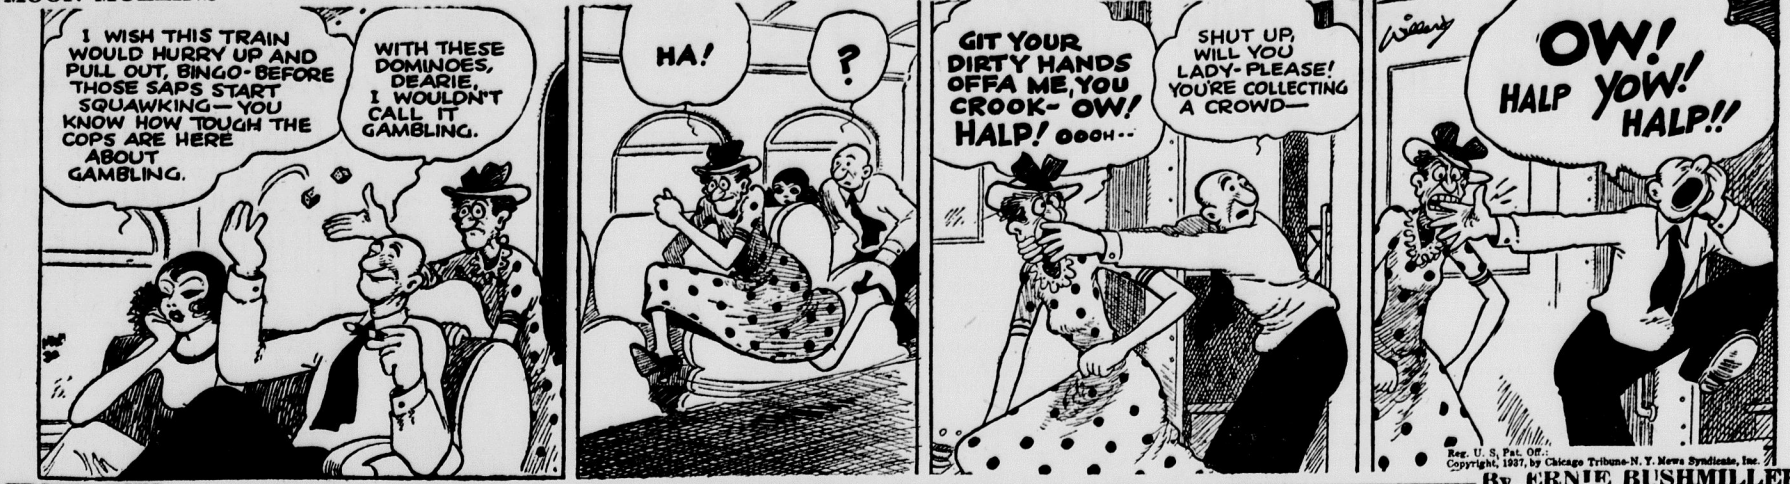

The spring of 1913 found him again in exile in Turukhansk, northern Siberia, where he remained until February, 1917.

More Homes and How to Get Them

Easier federal financing of private home construction, as proposed by President Roosevelt, won't help the construction boom much unless, as he says, there is a "willingness of industry and labor to cooperate in producing housing at costs that are within the reach of the mass of our people."

It's only fair to point out, however, that much of the cost of the modern home is due to the insistence of the prospective owner upon all the latest conveniences and gadgets.

Fifty years ago it was different, as President George Wells of the school board pointed out to us yesterday commenting on the matter. Then there was little expensive plumbing, wiring and accessories.

Today there are often two or more bathrooms, innumerable electric outlets, special built-in features, air conditioning and other refinements that make the modern cottage more comfortable than the palaces of the rich a half century ago.

Easier financing by the government should help break the present building jam. But first of all prospective owners must get together with industry and labor on a basis where all of them can function.

If we can just train them to do that, what scenery!

No Reason for Delay

A poll reveals that 90 of the U. S. senate's 96 members favor revision or repeal of the undistributed-profits tax. In both houses sentiment for tax action at the present special session is becoming stronger every day.

And no wonder. It is generally agreed this tax is paralyzing business—that its correction would do much to restore confidence, halt the recession and create employment. Members of a house subcommittee, after long and careful study, have agreed upon the specific changes they believe necessary. Yet Democratic leaders in congress are insisting that tax correction should wait until next session.

Answering them, Senator Byrnes of South Carolina says: "There is no reason for delay. With the aid of their experts and the data they have collected, the house subcommittee ought to be able to draft a bill in 12 hours. I could do it myself in that time. It shouldn't take another 12 hours for the house to pass the bill, and within 48 hours the senate could consider it."

The job might take a little more time than that. But it can be done, and it should be done, at this session.

Magazine Worth $200

If you happen to be a subscriber of Scribner's Magazine, there is just a remote possibility that your current issue is worth $200.

A series of reproductions of American paintings has been appearing in the periodical during the last nine months. The issue most lately released contained a pastel entitled "The Sleeping Child," by Isabel Bishop, distinguished artist.

The publishers have just discovered that the original was sent, along with the reproductions, to the bindery in Philadelphia, and has disappeared. Presumably, it was stitched by mistake into a copy of the magazine, which then went out to some subscriber. The original is the same size as the reproductions.

If you chance to be one of Scribner's 150,000 subscribers, you can identify the original with ease inasmuch as it is on brown pastel paper, whereas the reproductions all appear on white paper. The publishers will pay $200 for its return.

Congress is said to be in a mood for compromise.
It is certainly marking time unanimously.

Repetition

Latest suggestion in Europe: "If you won't bomb London during any coming war, we won't bomb Berlin," says Great Britain, seeking a treaty with Germany. Londoners remember the air raids of the last war, and want no more of them.

Let's see:

It was back before 1914 that the nations had fixed up a nice set of rules to govern the coming war.

They had promised each other not to use poison gas. No dum-dum bullets. And no one was to invade Belgium.

But all these things happened. War knows no rules, and enemy nations will use whatever means and weapons seem likeliest to bring about victory.

If London doesn't want air raids, that is the surest indication that a visit of death-dealing airplanes will be a curtain-raiser in England's next war.

That Los Angeles landslide appears to be waiting for the director to call, "Action! Camera."

Danger for Dads

Been in the stores lately? Around the toy department? Then listen, men; don't you think it's a good time to form a mutual protection society? Protection against the merry jesters who are always talking about dads who buy sons mechanical toys and then wear all the paint off their white son sits and watches dad have a good time.

Let it be understood this Christmas that the humorist who springs that old gag must be prepared to bring affidavits proving he himself isn't one of the worst of the lot.

It's going to be a touch Christmas on dads who can't resist playing with "those fool things" they buy ostensibly for their offspring.

FAIR Enough

Why Not
Abolish
The States?
By Westbrook
Pegler

This month's issue of Fortune reports that, of the annual tax bill of 12 billion dollars in this country, the federal kitty gets five billion dollars, the states two and one-half, and 175,000 other government units the remaining $4,500,000,000. Meanwhile, however, the states and all the little political organisms entangled in the nation's fur and embedded in its hide are graciously yielding their duties to the national government, but without any compensation surrender of their taxing authority.

THIS IS A NATION

Well, so, instead of backing into the idea with stealthy proposals such as the seven TVAs and a lot of other legislative things intended to trick the customers, wouldn't it be better if someone, preferably Mr. One himself, should lay it on the line some day that this is no longer a loose and mutually parasitic social club of paper republics, but a nation? I know the stock answer about state's rights and the danger of a dictatorship after authority has been concentrated in the national capital. But the states, to preserve their rights, should have preserved and met their responsibilities, which is something that they have not done and can no longer do.

If they really cherished these rights they couldn't have compromised them for handouts from the national treasury and internal services for local improvements. Your rights are proportionate to your duties. If you don't make a decent effort to take care of your kids, the court will take them and do it for you.

And some states haven't made the effort. Some have, to be sure, but others have just curled up and dogged it, and it is impossible to kick them out or discipline the negligent or inefficient members or to declare them incompetent and carry them as wards of the able states. Some states are just tired out.

NO DICTATOR NEEDED

I can smell a dictator as far as I can hear one over the air, but it does not follow that a national government must be a dictatorship. The President could still be merely that and nothing more, and the congress, although elected from rearranged districts, need be no less representative than it is or has been. Other countries have done all right under national governments without sacrifice of democracy, and, moreover, this government, which we still fondly regard as a union of sovereign states, has already encroached so far on the original rights of the members, that a states-righter of a hundred years ago wouldn't recognize it now.

I hear Hoosiers and Suckers and Jayhawks who live and thrive in New York boasting of their undying sentiment and of their clanishness in business, a spirit not entirely unlike that of the race-traitor, immigrant Nazi, but I notice that they never go back to Indiana, Illinois or Kansas, and that they vote in the New York elections and make themselves thoroughly at home. The truth is that any American may be at home in any state, and that state lines and rights are both an illusion and an obstruction, and certainly not worth the expense in cost or progress.

SOFT SPOKEN POLITICIANS

They exist to preserve political organizations, multiple jobs, graft and inefficiency, and in some cases to provide sanctuaries for tax-dodgers.

But when it comes time to bridge Goose creek or build a high school or make houses worth while for Roosevelt's submerged third, all domestic obligations by any honest concepts of the states' reason and right to exist, they are entirely willing to let old Sam do it. Would the national government be more efficient and honest in its administration of the duties which would be handed over under such an arrangement?

New York, Connecticut and a few other good states would gain little and might lose a little, but in a general comparison the federal government is much better than that of the states and incomparably more honest.

And, anyway, we have been backing into this change for years. I suggest the advisability of facing the entire question.

Two Anaheim boys, Bert Marthland and Lee Dickenson, who had a struggle for their lives on the Mojave desert a few days ago, have reached their homes. They walked 30 miles and struck a mining camp, where they were rescued.

While D. Eymann Huff was endeavoring yesterday to pass an auto having tire trouble on the road to Anaheim, he came into collision with a motorcycle ridden by Fletcher Sumnil of Anaheim. Sumnil was rushed to the hospital but was not seriously hurt. Mr. and Mrs. Huff escaped injury.

I'll Tell You

By BOB BURNS

There ain't no question about it—a man is a pretty noble being. He'll put up with pret' near anything at home and stick it out because he realizes that his wife jest can't get along without him. I'll never forget the time my Uncle Ukle came to my house with a suitcase in his hands and he says,

"Robin, I jest can't live with my wife another day." He said, "I've stood for her selfishness for 26 years, and now I'm leavin'." He said, "After I'm gone, I want you to go over and tell her, but break it to her gently—I know she loves me, and if you tell her suddenly, the shock will probably kill her!" Well, I went over to his house, and there was Aunt Puney, sittin' on the front porch. When I told her Uncle Ukle had gone, she jumped to her feet and says, "You mean he ain't comin' back?" I nodded, and she wheeled and started into the house.

I grabbed her by the arm and I says, "What's your hurry, Aunt Puney? You ain't gonna do nothin' desperate, are you?" She said, "For goodness sakes, no! Now I'm going in and make a pot of coffee the way I like it!"

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

A. F. of L. feels slump will bring CIO to heel in peace parity; Garner threatens to split party if Roosevelt seeks third term; Sioux Indians sue government for $882,457.345 in treaty fight; Barkley, Pittman can't pay taxi fare; newsmen comes to rescue.

WASHINGTON.—The A. F. of L.-CIO peace negotiations are as sour as the economic situation—and for that very reason.

Two months ago most of the Federation strategists favored making concession and coming to terms with their rivals. This was the atmosphere in which the peace negotiations were being conducted. But since then, the industrial pace has slackened appreciably. Result has been a marked stiffening of the Federation's attitude.

They figure that the stronghold of the CIO—the mass production industries in its first and hardest by a slump.

This reasoning is well founded. Tens of thousands of steel, auto, rubber, textile and glass workers have been laid off in the last few weeks. This means stoppage of union ties. All of which is water for the Federation's mill-race.

The greater CIO's organizational difficulties, the less aggressive it is likely to be in the labor field and at the parity talks. The A. F. of L. financial enthusiasm of earlier crises in his office, the bushy-eyebrowed Vice President remarked:

"If the President runs for a third term I'll stump the country against him and split the party wide open. And, what's more, he knows that, too."

Federationists admit that their ranks also are being hit by the rising tide of unemployment. But they contend their lines are not as over-extended as the CIO and that the A. F. of L. financially is in a better position to weather an economic upset.

ANTI-THIRD TERM

Plain-talking Jack Garner is against a third term for his "boss" and he makes no bones about it. Discussing the matter with a group of senators in his office, the bushy-eyebrowed Vice President remarked:

"If the President runs for a third term I'll stump the country against him and split the party wide open. And, what's more, he knows that, too."

SIoux SUE

Pending unnoticed in the U. S. Court of Claims is the biggest suit ever filed in the history of this country. It has been brought by the Sioux Indians who seek to collect the colossal sum of $882,457.345.51 from the government.

The suit embodies claims of loss growing out of alleged treaty violations. Biggest item is valuable mineral rights in the Black Hills country of South Dakota, richest U. S. gold producing section. Another is a $17,700,000 claim for "destruction of game by whites," and a third for $1,000,000 for "failure to furnish cows and oxen stipulated in the treaty."

The Sioux are the nation's largest sufferers. Of the more than $2,000,000,000 in claims for redress from the government pending before the claims court, $1,200,000,000 are Sioux cases.

In fact, Indians as a whole are the biggest "clients" of the claims court. Since they started suing the government they have filed a total of $2,100,000,000 in damage suits but their percentage of actual collections is not large.

The Mailbag

Public opinion, or what somebody in office imagines to be public opinion, is our ruler. If public opinion is active, the politicians and people sit up and take notice. There is a definite need for outspoken talking and thinking on public matters. Honest, intelligent fair discussion of our problems is immensely useful. So that every citizen may have his say and contribute to the formation of public opinion, The Journal invites letters to The Mailbag.

AFTER HIS SCALP

To The Editor: The heat is on. Business has suffered a recession and the knife is being whetted to take the President's scalp. The war whoop rolls from the Pacific slope eastward across the Mississippi, mingling with an answering roar from the South and sweeps onward toward Washington, doubling and trebling in volume as it is joined by the clamor from the North and East. Economic royalists, share-croppers, Republicans and turntail Democrats lend their voices to swell the din as it races through Washington, rolls across the White House lawn and rattles the windows of the President's study.

The President hears and understands. His is a scalp that has been yearned for by many during the last five years. He ignores the mighty roar with its undertone of hysteria and malice and busies himself with plans, as he always has, to make things right again.

Firmly in place long after the current recession and its accompanying hubbub are history will be the President's scalp. H. P.

DIogenes PEGLER

To The Editor: The writings of Westbrook Pegler present an anomaly. He appears to treat with comparative leniency the big bad wolves of this world, whilst inflicting severe punishments upon many who if you allege to be a well-intentioned doer of good.

The explanation, methinks, is simply that Pegler hates hypocrisy much more than he hates big bad wolves. If you are obviously a big bad wolf, Pegler merely says "bad cess to you" as he applies the turpentine. But if you allege to be a sheep you had better be all sheep, with no single tuft of gray in your fleecy coat, else Pegler will scourge the damned spot right off your hide.

Pegler is a Diogenes with a lantern, looking for a honest man. Nothing infuriates him more than to find one who is almost, but not quite, 100 per cent honest.

CINCINNATI.—Public Health association item: "The concept of lead as an accumulative poison, without regard to quantity, has received its death blow." In this country no one escapes the lead which this item is talking about. Lead is in the gasoline. It is in insecticides. It is in many common utilities.

Wherever man meets lead, his body absorbs a little. Yet lead is not a poison. It is a necessary element in the body. It is a necessary element in the body. It is a necessary element in the body.

But they find he excretes daily as much as he takes in. So long as the daily intake is under the danger level, they think, poisoning is unlikely.

poisoning is rare. In this public health item, the authors, Robert A. Kehoe, Jacob Cholak, Donald M. Hubbard and Robert R. McNary of the University of Cincinnati, think they have the answer.

A tiny amount of lead in the body is not poisonous. But medical opinion has held that no matter how little is taken in, it stays, and eventually builds up to a dangerous level.

The Cincinnati scientists think they have disproven this build up. They find the average man eats about twenty-five hundredths of a milligram of lead a day. He probably even breathes a little in the air, they say.

But they find he excretes daily as much as he takes in. So long as the daily intake is under the danger level, they think, poisoning is unlikely.

NEW YORK.—Charles B. Cochran, the London producer, has just wound up a long visit to America. He is picturesque in the theater in the manner of Ziegfeld, Erlanger and Dillingham. British born, but reared in America, he has spent much of his professional life in London.

He began in the manner of W. A. Brady, sponsoring from rags to riches melodramas of the vanquished ten, twenty, thirty and side-line excursions into dime museum experiments. Incidentally he and Brady are old cronies, having first met at the ringside of the Corbett-Fitzsimmons fight.

Cochran has lived so long in England he has a full blown British accent. As top impresario in Alhambra he has produced more hit shows than any other. He once had five successes running simultaneously. Among his outstanding smashes was Noel Coward's "Cavalcade."

Like Ziegfeld and his man Sidney, one of the closest confidants of Cochran is his valet, who is constantly within call. The producer is in his 60's but looks no more than 50. Too, he has all the energies and enthusiasms of the newcomer to the theater.

The parade ground for the more expert rumba specialists is a down-the-cellar place near the Winter Garden called Club Yumuri. Mostly the patrons are the sleek-haired Latinos and their high-combed ladies who take the dances seriously—dropping in for dinner and never missing a number. There are many fine exploiters of the ace Cuban dance caper, but leading the pack at the moment is Joseph Schenck of the movies. With Orson Munn, socialist, two jerks and a twitch behind.

Kermit Roosevelt is the least clothes-conscious of the famous clan. He will have no truck with dandyism and almost has to be hog-tied to get him in a dinner jacket. Even then, if he isn't watched he is liable to fare forth with a pair of blue serge pantaloons and tan oxfords. His necktie is always lacking several hitches and his bell-held trousers appear likely at any moment to slip from their moorings. Incidentally, young Teddy Roosevelt has become far more popular of late. He has always been in a tough spot as the result of acquiring the name and inheriting many mannerisms of his illustrious father. A devoted family man, he is unusually chummy with his sons and especially thoughtful of his widowed mother. Associates in business also sound his praises.

I've often thought Tullio Carmanati, the well-dressed fellow of the movies, gets more genuine enjoyment out of dressing up than anyone. I used to run into him rather frequently on the avenue at 5 the o'clock hour of strut. Every appointment of his wardrobe was just so. One could imagine a full half hour in attaining the proper tilt of his hat. The loop of his wine-colored four-in-hand had a miniature sail gracefully billowing a breeze. His lapel flower and set of his breast pocket kerchief were simply perfection. All the little things in essential in Brummeling stressed—the wrist flap of the glove turned back to the right fraction and his collar and spats as snug as paper on the wall. To one who often tried for the same sartorial splendor only to glance back during a promenade to behold a dragging garter, he was an inspiration. A realization of wish fulfillment.

Few know the struggles his wife, Betty, had to make Will Rogers dude up a mite. His favorite costume, the one he loved to wear around his enormous ranch, was a pair of washed out overalls and faded workshirt. He received many dignitaries who dropped in, while so bedecked. Now and then Mrs. Rogers would catch him trying to slip off to town and would force him to spruce up. He would wear a necktie until it was sneaked from him and he never went to a tailor in his life. Generally he bought a hand-me-down, leaving the old one and wearing the new right out of the store. Albert Einstein is another careless dresser in the fields of a genius. He often roams the town without a necktie and wearing shoes that are not mates.

Utopia Around the Corner Note: One of those early morning whistlers was on the loose today—the first I've heard in several years. He was whistling the Mocking Bird with variations. From my window he caught my friendly wave, grinned and went spang back into his aria. Maybe the world is all right after all.
